COUNTY DOCTORS SET 'POLIO DAY'

Israel Is Stubborn On Gaza

By UNITED PRESS

The Israeli cabinet was reported today to have accepted—subject to "certain conditions"—the American plan for moving Israeli troops out of Sharm-El-Sheikh. But it rejected demands it give up the Gaza Strip.

Informed sources in Jerusalem said the cabinet met today and decided to ask Ambassador Abba Eban to seek further clarification of the American stand on navigation of the Gulf of Aqaba. Sharm-El-Sheikh, a fortress on the gulf, was used by Egypt to blockade Israeli shipping.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles offered to guarantee free navigation of the Gulf of Aqaba if Israel would pull its troops out of the former Egyptian base in the southern tip of the Sinai Desert at mouth of the gulf.

Sound Out Dulles

The Israeli sources would not elaborate on the "certain conditions" of withdrawal but indicated Eban would sound out Dulles further on just how the United States would guarantee free navigation. The gulf is Israel's outlet to the Red Sea.

Israeli informants also expressed belief the United States would support Israeli's position that a shift of United Nations troops into the Gaza Strip would not satisfy Israel's demands for a shield against Egyptian Fedayeen (commando) attacks.

Moshe Leshem, a spokesman for the Israeli foreign ministry, singled out a week of incidents to show that the Fedayeen had penetrated through the United Nations Emergency Forces (UNEF) lines in the Sinai to carry out "murderous attacks" against Israel for the third straight week. He referred to Fedayeen attacks in the Rafah area Tuesday night when busy highways were minded and said "the presence of the UNEF is no deterrent to Egyptian incursions into Israel."

Today's Israeli cabinet meeting was called to hear Premier David Ben-Gurion's formal answer to the American plan.

Israel had been cautiously in favor of the plan for the Gulf of

Fayette Court Orders Probe of Accusations

A report signed by a member of the Fayette County grand jury last September — containing accusations of alleged misconduct on the part of a number of persons, including Burgess Paul Thomas, of Brownsville, was ordered stricken from the record yesterday by the court en banc.

The courts adds in its opinion and order:

"This does not mean, however, that we are willing to ignore the accusation . . . It is therefore the duty of the district attorney of Fayette County to investigate these charges, and if found to be true, to instigate criminal prosecutions against the alleged offenders."

The matter was heard by President Judge W. Russell Carr and Judges S. John Morrow and Eustace H. Bane.

Dist. Atty. Joseph E. Kovach said:

"The district attorney will comply with the order issued by Judge Bane and will investigate accordingly."

The Grand Juror submitting the report was Joe L. Dickson, editor of The Morning Herald, of Uniontown.

The opinion and order of the court, written by Judge Bane, follows:

"On August 13, 1956, at the close of the deliberations of the Grand Jury at September Sessions, 1956, a report was submitted to the court in two parts. The first was in the usual form and was signed by all the jurors. The second was a disclaimer of concurrence of every other member of the Grand Jury, was signed by an individual member, Joseph L. Dickson. This latter report contained accusations of alleged misconduct on the part of a

Women Warned To Lock Doors

An unidentified woman called The Daily Independent today and said two men forced their way into her car and ordered her to drive them to various places in the City and on Route 51.

The terrified woman was not molested, she said.

She stated she called The Independent to warn women drivers to keep their car doors locked at all times.

The incident, which happened several days ago, was not reported to police.

Five Injured in Head-on Crash

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Four Pittsburghers and a Westmoreland County man were injured today in a head-on crash of an automobile and a station wagon on Saw Mill Run Boulevard near the intersection of Routes 51 and 88.

Richard Cost, of 409 Warden Ave., Mt. Pleasant, Pa., who was driving alone in his car, was taken to South Side Hospital with a broken jaw.

Mrs. Pauline Cardillo, 52, driver of the station wagon, suffered possible rib fractures and a broken shoulder. Her husband John, 63, had a possible broken hip. Two other passengers in the station wagon, Cesare Cardillo, 46, and George, 40, suffered leg injuries.

14 Die in Home for Aged Fire

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (UP) —Authorities sought today to identify two of 14 persons killed when flames flashed through a 75-year-old frame convalescent home, trapping many of the victims in their beds.

Ten persons were injured in the blaze Wednesday afternoon, but only one was reported in critical condition. Eight others were hospitalized.

There were 48 persons in the building when the fire broke out. The nursing home housed 32 patients. Most of those who fled uninjured were employes. Three children of an employe also escaped injury.

Two Victims Unidentified

The search for more victims was called off early today when one of the missing patients was found wandering about in a daze some 13 hours later.

The woman, Annie Orme, about 70, had been listed among the victims. She was found by Council Bluffs police trying to enter a home near the nursing home. Mrs. Orme told authorities she had spent most of the time in a nearby woodland. She suffered exposure and shock.

The bodies of two victims were still unidentified. Officials believed the unidentified bodies were those of Mrs. Mathilda Luchow and Mrs. Rose Cochran, both patients.

Authorities theorized the fire was touched off by an elderly woman patient when her cigaret touched a plastic window curtain.

License Had Expired

The fire broke out while many of the patients and employes were finishing lunch. Miss Cleo Clark, an employe, said she heard the cry of "fire!" and dashed to a room where 15-month-old Kim Pattin was sleeping.

"I picked him up and made for the back door," she said. "It felt like there were flames all around me. My arms were burned and Kim's eyebrows were singed."

The fire quickly swept the nursing home, whose patients ranged in age from the 60s into the 90s. The top two floors of the three-story structure crashed into the basement.

Iowa Public Health Commissioner Dr. Edmund Zimmerer said the building's nursing home license had expired last July 1 and was not renewed because of "certain deficiencies."

Minor Damage in Accident Here

Minor damage resulted from a two-car crash on Schoonmaker avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets yesterday, police said today.

According to reports, a car owned by Charles W. Hagerstrand, of 56 Montraver drive, was struck from behind by a car driven by James Thomas, of 1209 Morgan avenue.

STEELWORKERS PROTEST — Donald Rarick (left) yesterday displayed strong support in his campaign to unseat David J. McDonald (right) from the $50,000-a-year presidency of the United Steelworkers (CIO-AFL). It was the first time in 20 years that steelworkers had a choice for national president. The two are shown balloting yesterday.

Strong Protest Vote Gathered by Rarick

PITTSBURGH (UP) — David J. McDonald, who outran a strong protest vote to win re-election as president of the United Steelworkers, today faced the prospect of continued harassment by his opponent's rank and file organization.

With returns still drifting in, an unofficial tally of the 1,200,000-member USW's first contested presidential election showed McDonald won handily over Donald C. Rarick, who nevertheless polled surprisingly strong support.

McDonald begins his second four-year term June 1 with Rarick already letting it be known that his group has no intention of ending its opposition to the union leader's administration.

Rarick, a millworker from McKeesport, Pa., campaigned in a limited area for only four months with hardly any organization and with funds donated by men from the ranks.

With the count still in progress, the latest United Press tally showed: McDonald 186,310, Rarick 65,405.

Big Locals Unreported

Many of the union's big locals were not represented in the count. Additional substantial returns were not expected to be announced by district headquarters, which mail the ballots to international headquarters here for the official tabulation by elected tellers.

No date was announced for the official tabulation, but the union constitution requires the results be announced by May 1.

Rarick showed his strength in Pittsburgh and other Pennsylvania steel centers and areas such as Youngstown, Ohio, and Buffalo, N.Y., where he did most of his campaigning.

It appeared he also may win in District 16 here which includes McDonald's "home" local.

The opposition to McDonald and

Man Suffers Fatal Attack Playing Cards

A 79-year-old retired railroader, Stephen Seman, of 221 Third street, Monessen, dropped dead yesterday morning while playing cards at a gambling establishment at 475 Schoonmaker avenue, it was learned today.

Seman, it was said, was playing cards at a table when he collapsed. Fellow players carried him to a nearby bench and called City Physician Fred Campana. He was dead when Dr. Campana arrived.

Westmoreland County Coroner Stephen Yoney, of Monessen, said death was attributed to a heart attack. He listed the time of death at 2:30 a. m. yesterday. Seman has no known relatives.

The death occurred at Frank's Smoke Shop, which last month was raided by State Police. Twenty men were nabbed in the raid. The place went out of operations for a few days after the raid. It resumed operations about a week later, and has been "in business" since.

The place was closed last night.

$500 Damage in Webster Blaze

Fire of undetermined origin caused an estimated $500 damage to a stone-cutting firm near the Donora-Webster bridge about 4:30 this morning, Chief Herman Blick, of Webster, reported.

Blick said a portion of the roof was damaged. Some business files were also damaged.

The firm is owned by Basil Luciani, of Monessen.

To Be in Offices Saturday Feb. 23 To Give Vaccine

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — The Westmoreland County Medical Society, pressed to support a mass inoculation program, announced today that every doctor in the county will be in his office for an 8-hour period Feb. 23 to administer Salk vaccine to all comers.

The society, which insists that "family doctors" should give polio shots rather than clinics, said vaccine will be available at the physician's office on "polio day" at $3 for those able to pay, and free of charge who say they cannot afford the fee.

The announcement followed a meeting of the society's executive committee Wednesday night. At the session, the doctors were told of an offer of $15,000 in March of Dimes funds to support a plan for mass inoculations, if the doctors would end their opposition to mass inoculatins.

The physicians will be in their offices from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on the day set aside for inoculations to administer the first of the three recommended vaccine shots. A second "polio day" for the administration of the second round of shots has been set for March 23.

Several Appeals

The sciety's inoculation plan came after several appeals to the physicians to change their policy of barring society members from participating in mass programs.

Greensburg's volunteer firemen offered to pay all costs and provide facilities for setting up inoculation centers in the seven fire stations of the city and the suburban boroughs of South and Southwest Greensburg.

In addition to offering to pay the fees of participating physicians, the firemen also proposed to supply baby-sitters for parents unable to leave their children and to provide transportation to the fire stations.

The March of Dimes offer was made in a joint letter from Abraham Beter, county March of Dimes director, and William B. Lewis, chairman of the county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The letter, sent to Medical Society President Dr. Joseph Lipinski, New Kensington, said:

"Our sincere efforts to get Westmoreland County people inoculated has reached the point where we will appropriate $15,000 from this year's March of Dimes campaign, disposition of these funds to be directed by your society . . . in the event your society agrees to a plan similar to Allegheny County's."

The medical society in neighboring Allegheny County is supporting an all-out drive to inoculate all residen' against polio. The plan includes the setting up of free clinics in hospitals, schools, public buildings and industrial plants.

The Westmoreland Society already has called a halt, at least temporarily, to a mass inoculation program at plants of the Robertshaw-Fulton Controls Co. About 900 employes received the first of the recommended three shots of Salk vaccine. They were administered at plant dispensaries by a company employed doctor.

The executive board of the medical society ruled that member doctors could engage in mass inoculations only in cases involving "financial hardship." A spokesman said it was permissable for Robertshaw-Fulton to pay for its employes' inoculations, but that they should be given by their family physicians.

$250,000 Damage In Downtown Pittsburgh Fire

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Damage resulting from a six-alarm fire which burned out a four-story building in the Diamond Market area was estimated today at $250,000.

Firemen battled for four hours before bringing the flames under control at 1:30 a.m. The blaze was believed to have started on the third floor which was used as a meeting hall by Local 237 of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union.

The roof and parts of the two upper floors collapsed during the fire. Jack Kenny, president of Local 237, said he believed valuable union records, which were kept in cabinets on the second floor, were destroyed.

More than 25 firemen were affected by the heavy smoke which poured from the burning building. Battalion Chief John Brickley was taken to Mercy Hospital and the others were treated at first aid stations set up at the scene.

In addition to the union, the building was occupied by five small business establishments on the first floor. The top story was vacant.

The blaze was the second six-alarm fire in the city's Golden Triangle district within 10 days. On Feb. 3, a fire in a business building on Liberty Avenue caused more than a million dollars damage.

The market district fire disrupted traffic in the contested area. Pittsburgh Railways was forced to reroute several street car lines.

Honolulu Port Strike Threatened

HONOLULU, T.H. (UP) — A teamsters strike involving only 46 truck drivers threatened today to close down Honolulu's million dollar port operations and to spread to Waikiki's tourist-filled hotels.

The truck drivers stopped work Wednesday after wage negotiations with a local transfer company collapsed. Teamster President Arthur Rutledge said the waterfront would be picketed if any trucking company with non-union employes attempted to work the piers.

Rutledge further implied he would call a walkout of his AFL-CIO hotel workers if "hot cargo" was delivered from the harbor to the hotels.

Five Merchants Are Named

Five new members of the executive committee of the Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce were elected at the Division's annual meeting last night at the Slovak Home.

Elected to three-year terms were Albino Gaudio, Gus Arcuri and Bernard Samuels. Francis Miller and Edmund Daumit were elected to two-year terms.

At last night's meeting, Joseph C. Friedland, retiring chairman of the Division, was presented a plaque for his "outstanding service" the past two years. Edward Lhota made the presentation.

Following his report on last year's activities, Friedland made a plea for full cooperation among members, stating "We are not doing business in the 1900's — but acquiring the look of tomorrow — today.

Remarks were given by Mayor Hugo J. Parente and Charles W. Hagerstrand, Chamber president.

The Rev. John Conway, assistant pastor of St. Leonard Church, gave the invocation and Capt. John Conners, of the Salvation Army, offered benediction.

The Division will select a new chairman and vice-chairman at a reorganization meeting Tuesday night.

GE Reaffirms Missile Center

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UP) — A spokesman for the General Electric Corp. denied rumors Wednesday that the firm was dropping plans for a huge guided missile center here.

J. C. Hoffman, manager of products information at GE, said his department has been informed that it is hoped planning for the new building will resume next year.

The rumors started when the firm announced it had to postpone construction of the building on the 100 acre site near the junction of the Schuylkill Expressway and the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Construction originally was to start at the beginning of this year, but Hoffman said GE had to give priority to other expansion.

Threaten Injunction to Halt 'Limited' Highway

A group of protesting citizens threatened yesterday to seek an injunction to prevent the State Highway Department from going ahead with its plan to convert relocated Route 31 into a "limited access" facility.

The threat was made during a public hearing conducted by the Highway Department yesterday morning in the Westmoreland County Courthouse at Greensburg.

John Costello, a Charleroi attorney representing the protesting group, told Highway Department officials that an injunction will be sought if there are no changes in the limited access plan.

John Rezzola, a legal aide for the Highway Department, conducted the hearing, which was attended by approximately 100 persons. All testimony was taken on a tape recorder and Rezzola promised that it will be given due consideration.

Rezzola confined the hearing remarks to the economic effect of the limited access ruling.

If the Highway Department carries through its plan, all commercial business places in the immediate area of the dual-lane roadway will be banned. The highway will be accessible only at certain points.

The protestors, who have retained Costello as their attorney, contend that such a ruling will have a serious impact upon the commercial life of the communities through which the new Route 31 will pass.

Yesterday's meeting lasted more than two and one half hours. All but one of the speakers expressed opposition to the limited access ruling.

The Highway Department contends that limited access is necessary to fit Route 31 into the federal system of highways. It is also argued that the safety factor will be greatly improved.

Jury Convicts Man In Local Burglary

A Westmoreland County criminal court jury yesterday convicted Stephen J. Herman, of Brownsville, on charges of attempted burglary and possession of burglary tools.

Herman attempted to enter St. Mary's Greek Catholic Church at Second street and McKee avenue, Monessen, last Dec. 13.

Triad Committee Plans Annual Scout Banquet

Mrs. Georgina Superfisky, president, was in charge of the Monday evening meeting of the Triad Neighborhood Committee Women of Lynnwood, Washington and Jefferson Township Girl Scouts held at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Hutchison, in Gillespie.

Plans for the annual banquet were the principal discussion and all reservations must be in by Feb. 23. Each troop is expected to present a flag of some country of the world and to make a centerpiece for its table.

The annual skating party for Senior and Intermediate Scouts will be Feb. 16 from 10 a. m. until 12:30 p. m. and for Brownies on Feb. 23 at the same hours. All leaders, committee women and senior aides are requested to attend both events. Assistance is especially needed for the Brownie party.

A cookie sale was planned for later in the month.

Badge work credits must be turned in by leaders to Mrs. Agnes Helfer, program chairman, no later than Feb. 20 as the Court of Awards will take place during Girl Scout Week in March in the Marion Junior High School auditorium.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. Hutchison and Mrs. Helene Winn. On March 4 the next regular meeting will be held in the Lynnwood Lutheran Church.

Women of Moose Present Gifts On Anniversary

At 7 o'clock on Tuesday evening at Peasant Village, Belle Vernon Women of the Moose were served dinner in observance of the anniversary of the organization. Invocation was by Chaplain Irene Steinmiller.

After dinner Senior Regent Naomi Brizzi spoke briefly and Mrs. Mary Perucca, of West Newton, chapter mother, spoke. Both were given gifts.

Each of the officers were introduced and gave brief remarks. They were each presented with a gift by the gift committee including Thea Dominico, Margaret Hupchick, Louise Nichols and Minnie Crum.

Each of the lodge members received gifts.

Prizes were won by Naomi Brizzi, Louise Nicholls and Margaret Hupchick.

The lodge will have a business session on Tuesday evening with an executive meeting at 7 and a membership meeting at 7:30.

Budget Is Approved for North Belle Vernon

Final approval of the budget for 1957 was made at the regular meeting of North Belle Vernon Council Tuesday evening in the council chambers.

Bill Rowley was appointed chairman of the administration committee replacing Myford Michener, who was elected council president at the last session. Amerigo Franceschi was appointed to fill Rowley's place on the committee.

After a discussion on a local citizen's complaint regarding vandalism to his personal property, it was agreed to appoint special police to patrol the streets in an attempt to eliminate the vandalism. Enforcement of a 9 o'clock curfew was also discussed but no definite action taken.

The audit report as presented by Andrew Kuhl revealed better financial standing at the close of the 1956 year as compared to past years.

Announcement was made that an additional control for traffic lights had been purchased and that an inventory of borough property will be made in the near future. It was agreed to increase the salary of the equipment operator from $1.45 to $1.75 per hour.

Council approved the engineer's estimates and costs involved in the Hill street project. Property owners will be assessed according to frontage at $3.50 per linear foot.

Bids for a 10 to 12 ton roller will be advertised in the local newspapers. The bids will be opened at the next regular meeting to be held March 12 at 8 o'clock. In purchasing the roller and some other needed equipment it is expected that repairs and improvements to borough streets may be done at less expense by borough personnel.

Council approved the election of Robert E. Whitelaw, Sr., as chief of the North Belle Vernon Fire Co.

In addition to Michener, who presided at the meeting, Rowley and Franceschi, other councilmen present were Tony Stringhill. Don Pender, Ross Boston and Joseph Tintori. Also present were Solicitor E. J. Moorrell, Engineer A. A. MacDonald and Burgess Leroy Jones.

Valentine Party For Girl Scouts

Girl Scout Troop 47 held a Valentine party on Monday evening in the Girl Scout Little House and an amateur show provided the entertainment.

Laura Chapman and Vicki Saltz pantomimed to "Playmates" Jane Hamilton, Mary Daugherty and Martha Chapman presented a dance specialty and Doris White pantomimed and sang a solo. Sharon Davis and Agnes Nole tap danced to "Bicycle Built for Two". Luncheon was served and winning the special prizes were Jane Hamilton and Rita Kratochvil.

Mrs. James Naccarato and Mrs. Joseph Saltz, leaders, were present.

Child Welfare Plans Discussed

Joseph Ferrari, of East Belle Vernon, was in Uniontown yesterday afternoon attending a meeting of the Fayette County Child Welfare Board, of which he is chairman.

In the absence of the acting director, some of the plans for the county enrollees, aided by the board, were delayed. The board has been trying to secure a regular director.

There were several by-law revisions and the 1958 budget was discussed. Two new members were received from Connellsville and Masontown.

The board is planning a dinner meeting at Summit Hotel and the members will have their wives and husbands as guests.

Baptist Church Society to Meet Here Tomorrow

The All Charten Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church will meet Friday evening at 7:30 in the church with the president, Mrs. Eleanor Lynn, in charge.

There will be a business session and a program with "Italy" as the theme. The program will be in the form of a broadcast with Bill VanDivner as announcer and interviewer.

A reading, "L'ora Italia" will be given and a hymn, "Open My Eyes" will be sung in Italian by Marie Wallace Caeser Barney and Mario Pesi. Donna Stark will play the role of Margaret Scipione, an Italian missionary in an interview. Ray Kimball will play "Ava Maria" as an organ solo.

The theme will be carried out in the refreshments and hostesses will be Thelma VanDivner and Bertha Headley.

Fire Auxiliary Making Plans For Carnival

The Monday evening meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to Belle Vernon Fire Co. No. 2 was opened by Chaplain Rose Beazell, who led in the pledge of allegiance, the Lord's Prayer and singing of "America".

There were 34 members present and Mrs. Richard Wright was a guest.

Preliminary plans were laid for the annual carnival and the date set was July 6 through 13. Thursday, July 12, was set as parade day and the rain date was one day later.

During the social hour moving pictures were shown by the Bell Telephone Co. with Mervyn Zimmerman, of Charleroi, in charge.

The special prize was won by Bertha MacDonald and Mrs. Rose Beazell won the award. Doris Wall was the winner of the guest prize and Valentines were exchanged.

Door prizes were presented to Mrs. Mabel Yeaton, Mrs. Margaret Callanan and Mrs. Sue Horan.

Luncheon was served by the committee in charge, which was composed of Mrs. Rose Checchi, Mrs. Helen Shepler, Mrs. Blanch Popp, Mrs. Jean Ganoe and Mrs. Helen Russell.

Moose Lodge In Anniversary Meeting Here

The 47th anniversary meeting of the Loyal Order of Moose, Lodge 209 of Belle Vernon was held in the lodge rooms with Gvernor Jack Thot presiding.

Assisting him were Junior Governor Andrew Jotko, Prelate Michael Soroka, Past Governor Bernard Wasko, Secretary George Diethorn, Acting Treasurer William Wisniski, Acting Sergeant of Arms Albino Brizzi, Inside Guard Michael Praskavich, Outside Guard George W. Brounce and Trustee Del Lundy.

New candidates proposed for membership were Angelo Gannini, of Belle Vernon, and Vincent Staffieri, of Monessen. They were accepted.

Visiting dignitaries were Secretary Arthur Hansen of District No. 11, of Elizabeth, and District Treasurer William Mathers, also governor of Sutersville lodge. Each spoke briefly.

John Kostella, Jr., of Belle Vernon R. D. 3, was the winner of the lifetime membership and Frances Fryske purchased a lifetime membership. William Wisniski was awarded a prize.

Luncheon was served to members and guests.

Robert Mosley, Opera Singer, in Concert Here

Robert Mosley, who left his job as a garage attendant in Pittsburge to become a popular television singer, will present a concert in the Bellmar High Schooll auditorium on Thursday evening, Feb. 21, at 8 o'clock.

The presentation is being sponsored by the Perrin Baker Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Church and tickets may be secured from the members.

Mosley was the winner at the Great Lakes Regional Auditions for Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air, which earned him a $300 cash prize. He will soon go to New York, where he will sing again before judges of the Metropolitan and American Broadcasting Co.

They will determine whether or not his voice merits finals in the Met auditions. He was judged the best of 12 entered in the Pittsburgh and Cleveland Area competitions.

His selections in the auditions were "Boris Godunov" and "Prologue to Pagliacci", which won him the Marian Anderson Scholarship Award. He started to sing six years ago as a member of the Ebenezer Baptist Church Choir.

He now sings spirituals on KDKA's "Hometown" program.

Girl Scouts in Badge Week

Work on profieciency badges will be completed at this evening's meeting of Fairhope Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 44 in the Marion Presbyterian Church social rooms.

Phyllis Superfisky, president, conducted last weeks meeting and dues were collected by Louise Watts, treasurer. Carol Serwinski gave the secretary report. She also collected for the Camp Fund.

The girls worked on plans for their centerpiece at the Mother-Daughter banquet. Taps concluded the meeting.

Mrs. Peg DePaolo, leader, was in charge assisted by Millie Russell and Helen Serwinski.

WCTU Presents Annual Memorial Program Here

The Women's Christian Temperence Union of Belle Vernon met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. G. Krepps, of Graham street. The annual Frances Willard Memorial program was presented in honor of the WCTU founder.

Mrs. Lily Miller was the leader and the theme "God's Word — the Guidebook". The group sang "How Firm a Foundation" and Mrs. Miller read scripture and offered prayer. She also explained scriptural passages from Psalms.

The group singing of "Frances Willard — We March" was followed by an article, "Organization Quotes" read by Mrs. Ewing Brown. Mrs. Arthur Sellars and Mrs. Lutes sang a duet, "This Is My Father's World", and the group sang "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee". Mrs. Grove read an article, "Vodka — Inhalration and Filtration". Mrs. Maude Finley read "Test Your A. Q.", and the program concluded with the group singing of "Are You Able".

Mrs. Blaine Grove read a letter of thanks from the Aspinwall Veteran's Hospital for a Christmas box sent by the local group.

A short business session followed the program.

Bert Smith, who was a patient in the Veterans Hospital at Oakland, Pittsburgh, for several weeks, has returned to his home on Speer street.

King's Daughters Class Meets at Moran Home

The King's Daughters Class of the First Baptist Church met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Dan Moran, Bluff street, with Mrs. June River as hostess.

Mrs. Nellie Nichols was in charge of the devotional program and she read scripture and a poem, "Was It I".

During the business session conducted by Kay Hanchin, president, it was reported that new chairs were purchased by the group for their church class room.

Mrs. Jane Manown was named next hostess with Mrs. River as devotional leader. She will also have charge of the games.

During the social hour the members exchanged Valentine gifts.

Luncheon was served and games were played. Winning prizes were Cathy Rosborough, Stella Shosky, Barbara Daugherty, Lavina McClain and Isabelle Kyle.

Singing Boys of Norway

Boys Choir to Make Appearance Feb. 28

The Singing Boys of Norway, one of the most famous European choirs of boys and young men, will appear as feature artists in the third of this year's series of concerts of the Monessen-Belle Vernon Civic Music Association on Thursday, Feb. 28.

The concert, which will be held in the Monessen High School auditorium, is open to members of the Civic Music Association only. No tickets will be sold. Tickets are transferable.

Doors of the auditorium will open at 7:30 p. m. and no one will be admitted after the concert starts promptly at 8:15 p. m., except between numbers.

Since its organization in 1927 the choir has given more than 2,000 concerts all over Europe, in cathedrals, churches, concert halls and, at the celebrated Norwegian festivals for winter sports.

At Music Festival

The "Olavaguttene" or "Olav's Boys", as they are known in Scandinavia, have also sung three times at the International Music Festival at Salzburg, Austria, the only boys choir except the Vienna Choir Boys that has been invited to appear at this greatest of Europe's music festivals.

In 1952 they toured the United States with great success, appearing in over 80 American cities, and they are now making their second American tour, under the sponsorship of the Ambassador of Norway in the United States.

The young singing Vikings usually appear first in sailor suits, then change into gay Norwegian national costumes with rich embroideries in red, blue, yellow and green, with white shirts and stockings.

The entire choir in Norway consists of a hundred voices, with 75 boy sopranos and altos, and 25 young men tenors and basses. For their American tour, 35 of the best voices have been chosen, constituting an ensemble that sings a great variety of music in seven languages.

Carefully Chosen

All of the boys must be able to play piano or violin before being admitted to the choir. They are carefully chosen from hundreds of applicants from all over Norway, and given a thorough musical training in Oslo's greatest school, where they live and rehearse for three hours a day, in addition to carrying on the usual sports and other school subjects.

Most of the young men in the choir are professional musicians who have graduated from the choir as boys, when their voices changed, and have been readmitted as tenors and basses at the young adult level.

Most of the credit for the choir's success naturally goes to the creative genius of their leader, Ragnvald Bjarne, who founded the group 29 years ago, and who has directed its activites ever since.

The choir has become famous for its unusually fine soloists, and for its distinctive Scandinavian "flavor." A featured soloist on the present tour is a 12-year-old boy, Tore Jordfald, whose clear soprano runs easily up to a High C.

Senate Bill to Correct Abuses in Child Labor Law

LEWISBURG, Pa. (UP)—The head of the Pennsylvania Citizens Committee on Migrant Labor said today a bill in the state Senate would "correct present abuses" in Pennsylvania's child labor laws.

Dr Cyrus Karraker, Lewisburg, said the proposal introduced recently by Sens. Charles R. Weiner (D-Philadelphia) and Bernard B. McGinnis (D-Allegheny) would fill a gap in laws "which permit the intentional exploitation of very young children, particularly migrant children."

The Weiner-McGinnis legislation aimed at larger farms, limits the employment of children under 16 to eight hours a day and 44 hours a week, with a guarantee of at least one day of rest a week. Farms which employ 12 or more workers would be prevented from hiring anyone under 12 years of age.

"Since agriculture work is now completely exempt from our child labor law, children of any age no matter how young can legally work any number of hours a day when schools are not in session," Karraker said. "The migrant child is hardest hit by this deficiency in the law. He does not do the usual chores around the farm. Instead he is out in the field all day long picking crops under a broiling sun..."

Registration Fee Cut Is Voted Down in House

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to cut the $10 registration fee levied on small automobile trailers to $5 was voted down in its initial test in the House yesterday.

The bill, beaten 88-60, was defeated when its Republican supporters failed to muster the required constitutional majority of 106 votes. Some 57 lawmakers were absent.

A co-sponsor, Rep. Samuel B. Dennison (R-Jefferson) admitted the proposal would cut the Motor Vehicle Licensing Fund by $750,000 over a two year period if the fee was sliced in half.

Dennison urged that the trailer registration had dropped 10 per cent since the rates were doubled to $10 last session.

Rep. Anthony J. Petrosky (D-Westmoreland) led the Democratic opposition during the hour-long debate. He contended the chamber should not approve any licensing fee slice until the House received the administration's Highways Department budget, which is supported by revenue raised from licensing fees.

Blind Brownie Leader Fancy Sewing Teacher

SEATTLE (UP) — Fancy needle work is a fast disappearing art, but 10 little girls in Seattle are learning the skill, although their instructor will never see the finished stitches. She's been blind since the age of 12.

As adult leader of Brownie Troop 239, Mrs. John Quigg supervises the often boisterous activites of the youngsters who meet in her home once a week.

"I try to help them have fun and teach them something at the same time," Mrs. Quigg said.

Mrs. Quigg began her work with Brownies three years ago when her 10-year-old daughter told her there was no troop in the neighborhood because no woman supervisor could be found.

"I guess I was a natural for the job," Mrs. Quigg said. "I've learned so many crafts and skills at schools for the blind."

After attending four Brownie leadership training meetings, Mrs. Quigg was on her own. Troop 239 was organized.

Although blind, she can identify all members of the troop. The girls believe she has some secret way of knowing what they're doing. They're still mystified when Mrs. Quigg threads a needle for them.

"One little girl used to hide from me," Mrs. Quigg said. "I just ignored her and she finally gave up."

Games and craft work make up the main portion of the weekly gatherings. Mrs. Quigg has taught them basket-weaving, sewing, and leather work—and the troop won a prize at a local art show with one of its projects.

The reputation of Troop 239 has spread. Mrs. Quigg is besieged by calls from mothers who would like to have their girls belong to the group.

"I'm limited to 10 girls," Mrs. Quigg explained, "or I'd take more."

The slim, blue-eyed woman will give up her growing Brownies this year because she can't participate in older girls' activities. But that doesn't mean retirement.

End of Shipping Strike Expected

Meeting Underway In N. Y.

NEW YORK (UP)—Negotiators and federal mediators forecast today an early end to a two-day longshoremen's strike that has crippled dock operations from Maine to Virginia.

Spokesmen for the striking International Longshoremen's Assn (ind) and the New York Shipping Assn., agreed that only clarification of several minor issues stood in the way of a settlement of the strike that has tied up 150 ships, idled 45,000 longshoremen and stranded tons of cargo on piers and in ship's holds

The disputants, who met separately with federal mediators Wednesday, were scheduled to resume negotiations today

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the U.S. Federal Mediation Service, said the parties were "not very far apart" He was echoed by spokesmen for the ILA and the shipping association which represents 178 steamship firms, who agreed that a settlement was imminent.

Notes of optimism also were sounded today by negotiators in the strike of tugboat and barge crewmen as they resumed deliberations aimed at ending a 14-day work stoppage that has cut off 70 per cent of New York's fuel deliveries.

Negotiators for the United Marine Division of the National Maritime Union and an employer group agreed, at the conclusion of a meeting early today, that the picture had brightened

Although the tug strike has cut deeply into fuel supplies in the greater New York area, city officials said truck and occasional tanker deliveries were helping forestall any emergency A spokesman for Mayo Robert F Wagner said that, in the event of an emergency, the federal government could supply the city with fuel from area government installations.

While the tug strike had greatly reduced operations in the huge Port of New York the walkout of 25 000 longshoremen here brought acuvity to a virtual standstill Ships continued to dock but passengers were forced to carry their own baggage, or rely on steamship company personnel

Egypt reacted angrily to the Dulles Aqaba plan and criticized it as one favoring Israel and giving the Arabs a "slap in the face" Egypt's semi-official news agency said Egypt would not be bound by any American pledges to Israel

Officials Discount Stand

Washington dispatches said American officials tended to discount the stand and that they still hoped Egypt would go along with the Dulles idea They based their optimism on indications received from Egypt through U N Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold that Egypt would agree

Dulles emphasized through a spokesman Wednesday night that Egypt had given no specific assurance it would accept the plan

The United States was looking to King Saud of Saudi Arabia to help sell Egypt and other Arab nations on the plan Saud who is meeting leaders from Egypt, Jordan and Syria soon, declared during his Washington visit he would work with the United States in trying to promote peace in the Middle East

ALLEGED RINGLEADER — Alleged ringleader of the 20 persons in Cairo's big spy case is James K. Swinburne, 52, former business manager of the now liquidated Arab News agency. Eight of the 20 are Britons, but four fled from Egypt before they could be arrested. The government demands a hanging death for the whole bunch.

Leader Forms Special Committee on Health

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov George M Leader today established a special Deans Committee on Mental Health to aid the Commonwealth in developing a system of career residencies in psychiatry at the state's mental hospitals.

The committee will consist of the deans of the state's six medical schools — the University of Pittsburgh, University of Pennsylvania, Temple University, Hahnemann Medical College Jefferson Medical College and the Woman's Medical College

Leader said the career residencies will follow a pattern established by the Veterans Administration after the Korean War The residencies would be filled by practicing psychiatrists, the governor said

The deans of the medical schools also suggested a program by which the schools could contribute more effective aid to the state health program They suggested the schools organize refresher courses in psychiatry for general practitioners, organize a speaking bureau which would arrange talks to the county medical societies and try to stimulate student interest in seeking summer employment in state mental hospitals.

The group also suggested a program of refresher courses for the nursing schools associated with the medical schools with the idea of encouraging trained nurses to seek posts at the state mental institutions.

Grange Asked To Intervene In Fair Squabble

BUTLER Pa (UP)—The State Assn of County Fairs and the Pennsylvania State Grange have been asked to intervene in the legal battle being waged by the Butler County Fair to set up new grounds for its annual exhibition

The state organizations asked Armstrong County Judge J Frank Graff, specially sitting in Butler County for permission to join with the Butler Fair group in an appeal from Graff's ruling last December which held that the fair could not set up new grounds on a site along Rt 8 four miles south of here

The old fairgrounds have been turned over to the Butler School District for a new high school When the fair operators took options on the new site, owners of adjoining properties won a restraining order on the grounds that the fair would constitute a nuisance and lower land values

Nine Enlist In Air Force

Nine enlistments in the Air Force were announced today by T-Sgt Arthur Dubinsky a recruiter in Charleroi They include

Mike Vlasic 1324 Patton avenue Bernard Marmie 313 Twelfth street Herman Alvarez of 311 Twelfth street, and Louis Artalona, Jr., 1262 Morgan avenue, all of Monessen Glenn Thomas, of Coal Center Robert Turek and and Jack O'Toole, both Fayette City, William Sinko of Vestaburg, and Delano Migliori, of Donora

The Monessen men enlisted as a group and will train together, according to Sergeant Dubinsky

17 Nations in West Europe for Free Trade

PARIS (UP)—Seventeen West European nations voted early today to open negotiations on a British-backed plan for a free trade zone embracing 250 million persons.

The decision to work toward a trade zone that would rival the United States or Russia in size and scope was the biggest single step toward a united Europe since the European army plan collapsed 2½ years ago

Peter Thorneycroft, 47-year-old British chancellor of the exchequer, requested and was given the job of keeping the talks moving toward completion of a draft agreement on the trade zone by the end of July.

It was Britain's biggest step toward uniting with its European neighbors after ten years of standoffishness recently climaxed by the British decision to trim its military forces on the continent by half

The decision means a first step towards a tariff-free and quota-free trade group proposed to be set up within 10 to 15 years This would unite the 17 Western nations into a single trading bloc with great advantages to each nation

The vote to advance the project from idea to preliminary blueprint came at the end of a two-day session of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC) Finance Ministers Council.

Stassen to Resign; Run for Governor

WASHINGTON (UP) — Presidential disarmament adviser Harold E Stassen plans to resign his White House job early next year to wage a campaign for the Pennsylvania governorship, informed sources said today.

They said Stassen has told President Eisenhower of his plans and the two have agreed he should remain in his present job for the rest of the year to handle delicate disarmament negotiations with the Soviet Union. The negotiations are scheduled to begin soon in the five-nation disarmament subcommittee of the United Nations

Stassen, a former Minnesota governor, now maintains his legal residence in Pennsylvania He is a former president of the University of Pennsylvania.

There have been persistent rumors in Washington that Stassen would resign his post He recently denied any such intention

However, his office said only "no comment" when asked today about the report he intends to leave his job for Pennsylvania politics

Stassen's plan, if successful, could boost his political stock He angered many Republican leaders last year when he tried but failed to have then Massachusetts Gov. Christian A Herter substituted for Vice President Richard M. Nixon on the Republican ticket

Some Republicans called for Stassen's ouster from the administration after the "dump Nixon" campaign failed Some of Stassen's Pennsylvania friends have been reported urging him for some time to consider running for governor of Pennsylvania Stassen associates have said he was considering the proposals

New York Times correspondent James Reston said in a Washington dispatch that Stassen, according to his friends, has told President Eisenhower he intends to resign. Reston quoted Stassen's friends as saying Mr Eisenhower agreed he should continue with his disarmament negotiations in the United Nations for the rest of the year.

Stassen, who three times tried unsuccessfully for the Republican presidential nomination, has decided to try for a comeback next year when he will be 50, in the belief that he cannot possibly retain any influence in the GOP unless he succeeds in building political strength in one of the powerful states, the Times said

Stassen also is determined to do battle once again with the conservative element of the Republican Party. Reston said He already intends to help oppose the re-election of Republican senators Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, William E Jenner of Indiana, George W Malone of Nevada, and John W Bricker of Ohio, the Times said

Neither has Stassen given up his campaign to get liberal GOP challengers for the strong candidacy of Vice President Richard Nixon for the 1960 presidential nomination Reston said

Congressman Tells Army to Hold its Horses

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep Carl Vinson told the Army today it ought to hold its horses

Vinson, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, vigorously opposed a move to replace with a hearse the 17 horses which draw caissons at military funerals in Arlington National Cemetery.

The Georgia Democrat said that in a $38 billion military budget there should be some better way of making savings "than at the incalculable cost of destroying the traditions of the past"

The Army had announced it would replace the horses after May 31 as an economy move Vinson voiced his protest in a letter to Army officials

'We still retain naval salutes by naval vessels for heads of states and individuals of rank,' Vinson said

"Military bands still play Chopin's Funeral March and Taps' he continued 'We still present an American flag to the widow of a deceased serviceman, and we still fire a volley over the graves of deceased veterans.

"In the interest of economy, will these be next to go?"

There was no immediate comment from the Army.

Rarick

his international administration was sparked by a $2 a month dues increase voted by the USW convention at Los Angeles last September An international Dues Protest Committee was formed with Rarick as chairman Later the committee put Rarick up as a candidate for president.

Rarick hurled charges of "union racketeering" in his campaign and demanded "return of the union to the rank and file."

He said today his organization would not disband in the event the formal vote tabulation goes against him

This international administration is doing nothing for the men. Grievances are piling up at the local level. The men can't even get to see their top staff officers," he said

We intend to make sure our organization stays together We will start working at the local level

Collection Agencies Regulation Beaten

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Senate Banking Committee has rejected a bill to regulate collection agencies

Sen Henry J Properzi (R-Montgomery) said his committee received "a large amount" of letters protesting the legislation to require a $250 license for all collection agents and the posting of a $10,000 bond

The bill was sponsored by Sen Israel Stiefel (D-Philadelphia).

Gas Utility Asks FPC for Rate Increase

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Manufacturers Light and Heat Co has asked the Federal Power Commission to authorize a $1,788 000 annual rate increase affecting 23 wholesale gas companies, it was announced Wednesday

The wholesale firms serve more than 400 000 customers in Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, New Jersey and Maryland

Manufacturers Vice President G A Massa said the proposed higher wholesale rates are needed to offset higher operating costs He said recent increases proposed by four major gas suppliers would cost Manufacturers an additional $3,330,000 in future gas purchases

Two affiliates of Manufacturers in the Columbia Gas System—Ohio Fuel Gas Co of Columbus and Home Gas Co both of which make wholesale deliveries in New York State — would absorb about $845 000 of the proposed increase

Other increases would be United Gas Improvement Co, Philadelphia, $359 950, York County Gas Co, York Pa, $223 287 Acme Natural Gas Co, Butler, Pa, $168,872, United Natural Gas Co, Oil City, Pa, $86 000, Union Heat and Light Co, Emlenton, Pa $19,342, Scranton Spring Brook Water Service Co, Wilkes-Barre, Pa, $17,877.

Air Force Is Studying Power For Space Ships

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Air Force is studying the startling concept of harnessing ion beams to provide electrical energy for powering space ships at fantastic speeds

However, would-be space rocketeers can settle back The Air Force expects it will be some time before it ever gets around to building a space ship, much less powering one by "ionic drive"

The Air Force confirmed Wednesday that it has made 'two or three relatively small contracts" totalling less than $200 000 to investigate the possibility of ionic power

But Col William O Davis, deputy commander of the Office of Scientific Research, said the Air Force probably won't know for another five years whether "ionic drive" is feasible

Under the theory, electrical rather than heat energy would be used in a reaction engine essentially similar to today's jet engines.

Ions are charged atoms or molecules A stream of ions would be used to push the space ship.

IKE OUT FOR A FEW DRIVES— President Eisenhower is shown practicing the short ones before teeing off at Thomasville, Ga., and watching a drive at 10th tee

Ike Expected to Settle for Modified Mideast Doctrine

WASHINGTON (UP) — Republican senators looked to the White House today for official signals on whether to wage a floor fight to strengthen the watered-down version of the Eisenhower Doctrine approved by two Senate committees

The President's Middle East resolution cleared the Democratic-controlled Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees by a 20-to-8 vote Wednesday, but only after its language was sharply modified The resolution now goes to the full Senate for debate next week

There were indications, both here and at the temporary White House at Thomasville Ga that Mr. Eisenhower might settle for the watered-down resolution rather than risk weakening its international propaganda impact by prolonging Senate debate

White House Press Secretary James C Hagerty said in Thomasville that both the President and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles were pleased with the committee's action but that the language of the revised resolution needed further study

Democrats on the two committees who succeeded in softening the language of the proposal voiced confidence that the full Senate will go along with the change The committee vote on the specific issue of rewording the resolution followed straight party lines, with 15 Democrats supporting the change and 13 Republicans opposing it

The Democrats led by Sens Hubert H Humphrey (Minn) and Mike Mansfield (Mont) substituted for Mr Eisenhower's original wording a statement that the United States is "prepared to use armed forces to assist" any Middle East nation threatened by Communism "if the President determines the necessity thereof"

The President's original request, approved overwhelmingly by the House, was for specific "authority to send U S troops into the Middle East if they are requested to help turn back a Communist attack

If the change is upheld the resolution will have to go to a House-Senate conference committee for a final version to be worked out

Besides handing the administration a licking on the troops "authority" the Democrats also wrote in some 'strings' on the President's request to spend $200 million on an economic and military aid program for the Middle East

White House Denies Threats To Great Britain

THOMASVILLE Ga (UP)—The White House today bluntly denied a London report that President Eisenhower, during the heat of the Suez Canal crisis threatened economic sanctions against Great Britain

Viscount Hinchingbrooke a Conservative member of the British House of Commons said Wednesday that the President used 'cavalry barracks language" in a transatlantic telephone call to former Prime Minister Anthony Eden

The British member of Parliament also said the President threatened to use economic sanctions against the United Kingdom in the Middle East crisis

Press Secretary James C Hagerty said today at the President's vacation headquarters 'I think the viscount must be misinformed'

As for the President's use of barracks language Hagerty said, "I have never known the President to use such language" paster, on confidential reports covering the international situation Goodpaster planned to fly back to Washington this afternoon

U. S. Has no Plans to End Military Draft

WASHINGTON (UP)—There apparently is no chance that the United States will follow Britain's lead and plan for an early end of its military draft.

The U S draft act runs until June 30 1959 and as far as can be forecast the Defense Department will seek a renewal

British Defense Minister Duncan Sandys said in London Wednesday that Britain would abolish conscription as soon as practicable as a means of saving money.

Reductions in manpower are favorite means of reducing defense outlays The United States has trimmed its armed forces by 700 000 men since the Korean War with an estimated annual savings of $3 5 billion

But President Eisenhower asserted frequently during the last presidential campaign that the draft could not be halted in this country He said on one occasion that it would weaken the armed forces to end the draft promote neutralism and "shock our allies who are calling their people to shoulder arms in our common cause"

Mr Eisenhower's Democratic opponent Adlai E Stevenson had called for an end to the draft when it was safe to do so

Britain apparently will be the first member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to drop the draft

Wants Tests Halted

District Housing Project Plans Are Progressing

PHA Official Reviews Drawings For Big Project

Plans are progressing for a proposed new housing unit in the Arnold City area of Washington Township, it was announced today by Howard J. Mulligan, executive director of the Fayette County Housing Authority.

William Booker, technical director of the Public Housing Administration, Washington, D. C., arrived in Uniontowntown yesterday and spent today reviewing preliminary drawings for the 80-unit project. Booker will confer with Mulligan and Altman & Altman, architects.

After the preliminary plans are revised and approved, the architects will proceed with the preparation of final plans and specifications.

The authority then will advertise bids for construction. The project will house low-income families in the Washington Township, Fayette City and Belle Vernon areas.

Brick Buildings

The dwellings of one, two, three and four bedroom-units will be of brick and asbestos shingle construction similar to other housing projects throughout the country.

The structures are designed with consideration of eye-appeal, safety and low cost maintenance. The fire-resistant asbestos shingles also permit low insurance rates, Mulligan explained

The Washington Township project will bring to eight the number of low-income rental projects. There are two state housing projects and five temporary or Title Five projects. The eighth, planned in the Brownsville area is being delayed until a decision is reached by the State Department of Highways regarding the re-location of a new U. S. 40

Fayette County now has practically every type of housing project — low income, rural nonfarm, state housing, and temporary," Mulligan said.

Praises Program

"This is a worthwhile program While it has its short-comings and is abused in some instances, generally speaking, it has eliminated sub-standard housing groups and placed low-income families in safe and sanitary homes The program has been particularly advantageous to older pensioned folks, who now have a home with all modern conveniences for as low as $40 per month.

Mulligan continued:

"When industry considers a new location, it first looks for available housing within the community. We can, by housing eligible families help provide adequate quarters for those within a higher and steady income bracket. Few private industries are building rental houses today.

"The more mobile society becomes, the greater is the need for rental housing due to fluctuation of the shifting of employment," the housing executive concluded.

Coal Research Needed To Help Employment

EBENSBURG, Pa. (UP)— District coal company officials warned the House subcommittee on Coal Research Wednesday that while their industry may face a bright future, coal operators in Western Pennsylvania may "be long gone before the dawning of that rosy horizon."

Dennis J. Keenan, Spangler, general superintendent of the Sterling Coal Co., told the committeemen at a one-day hearing here that the industry is "badly in need of research to insure steady employment."

"We have been dragging our feet as far as research goes and we need financial assistance and federal backing if we are to survive," he said.

Richard Todhunter, Branesboro, general manager of the Barns & Tucker Coal Co., said the "vicious cycle" of employment on the coal industry has resulted in older miners being reluctant to advise their sons to follow in their footsteps.

At least three company representatives told the committee that despite the present problems faced by the industry, they foresaw increased coal production, more markets and a bright future for coal.

After hearing their testimony, Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth (D-Colo) declared:

"I've heard more optimism here about the coal industry than I have for years."

Other witnesses at the hearing included: Harvey Younkers, vice president of United Mine Workers; Dr. Harold J. Ross, vice president of Bituminous Coal Research, Inc.; J.D.A. Morrow, Pittsburgh, representative of the manufacturers division of the American Mining Congress, and Lewis Evans, of the state Department of Mines.

The hearing was the first in a series being conducted by the subcommittee, which is headed by Rep. Ed Edmondson (D-Okla). The committee will go to Ebingdon, Va., for a hearing Friday and will return to Pennsylvania Feb. 22 for a hearing at Wilkes-Barre.

Bills to Tighten Liquor Control Laws in State

HARRISBURG (UP) The House Liquor Control Committee today received legislation to outlaw the licensing of liquor establishments within 300 feet of churches, hospitals, charitable institutions and playgrounds.

The bill of Reps. John H. Light (R-Lebanon) and E. Gadd Snider (D-Fayette) was among several proposed laws affecting liquor control.

Others would close down clubs at Saturday midnight rather than 3 a.m. Sunday and tighten regulations of establishments whose licenses are suspended for the second time.

A bill by Reps. Leo A. McKeever (D-Philadelphia) and Albert E. Strausser (R-Columbia) would close most businesses on Sunday completely. Exempted were public utilities, hotels, gasoline stations, sporting events and amusement places. Violators would be subject to a $500 fine.

GSA Asked to Help Provide City Colleges

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly has been asked to appropriate $4,000,000 to provide city colleges in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

The Democratic sponsored measure would turn over the appropriation to the state Public Instruction Department to construct, equip and maintain the two colleges. The schools would be open to all persons residing in the district regardless of color, religion, national origin or sex.

The bill was offered by Reps. Granville E. Jones, Eugene Gelfand and Herbert Fineman, all of Philadelphia.

The House also received a proposal for creation of a Pennsylvania Fair Educational Opportunities Commission to ban discrimination because of race, religion, color or national origin in educational institutions.

Snow Forecast Here Tonight

By UNITED PRESS

A snow storm which might bring several inches of snow was predicted for Pennsylvania today

The Weather Bureau said the snow was moving in with a low pressure area now centered in Ohio. It was expected to move through the state and off the New Jersey coast today.

Tentative accumulations of the snow are expected to be light but there is a possibility of the storm growing in intensity later today and tonight. A colder air mass will move in behind the storm, bringing partial clearing tonight and Friday.

High temperatures today were expected to remain in the 30's with night temperatures in the upper teens and 20s.

Body of Long Missing Author Found in River

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)— A coroner performs an autopsy today on the body of magazine writer George Sessions Perry, found in a river about two miles from his home.

The coroner was expected to rule whether the 46-year-old author committed suicide when he vanished from his home in Guilford, Conn., Dec. 13.

Perry's body, clad only in socks, was found Wednesday lodged against a bridge abutment in the East River, a small stream that divides the towns of Madison and Guilford and empties into Long Island Sound.

George Heinold, assistant police chief at Madison, identified the author's body. Heinold, a friend of Perry's, said the author may have been "impelled to obey the voices he said he heard from time to time telling him to dive into the river and to swim until he reached the North Pole."

Heinold said Perry "looked remote" before his disappearance and had been "depressed." He said the author had a nervous breakdown and suffered from arthritis. He said Perry had been an out-patient at the Middletown State Hospital.

Heinold quoted Perry as telling friends: "The best thing I can do in this depressed state is either jump into the river and swim to the North Pole or run into the woods until I drop."

The six-foot, six-inch tall author was a frequent contributor to the Saturday Evening Post. He and his wife originated the "Cities of America" series for the magazine.

Perry was born in Rockdale, Tex. He was a war correspondent during World War II and won the National Book Award in 1941 for his novel, "Hold Autumn In Your Hands."

Moscow Claims 'Ike Doctrine' Could Be War

LONDON (UP)—Moscow Radio said today the Eisenhower Doctrine not only could take the United States to the brink of war "but could tumble it right in, head over heels."

In a commentary beamed at North America, Moscow said "conflicting tendencies are at play in Washington between those who want a relaxation of international relations and those who want their aggravation."

It said one side was represented by politicians who stubbornly oppose cooperation with Russia and lose no chance to worsen Soviet-American relations.

"These are the same politicians who have been rooting all along for the dangerous course of cold war although this course has already demonstrated its insolvency and done the United States no end of harm," the commentary said.

It said the leaders of this group were Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis).

Moscow said implementation of the Eisenhower Doctrine by Congress "will relieve Mr. Dulles of the need of making any more admissions about the United States being on the brink of war. For once it is accomplished there is nothing for it but to tumble right in head over heels."

State Would Have Special Drug Police

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Legislature has received a proposal for creation of a special commission and police force to handle the Commonwealth's illegal narcotics problems.

Three bills introduced simultaneously Tuesday would transfer narcotics control from the state Health Department to a specially-created Narcotics Commission.

A force of narcotics agents would be empowered to act as police officers under the commission with authority to arrest on sight, without warrant, "any person engaged in the unlawful sale, possession, or distribution or traffic in any drugs."

The three commissioners would be appointed by the governor, with tht consent of the Senate, to serve six year terms at an annual salary of $10,000.

The legislation also would make imprisonment mandatory along with a fine for conviction of any narcotics offenses.

$100,000 Asked For Aerial Survey Of the State

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Legislature has been asked to appropriate $100,000 for an aerial survey of Pennsylvania's oil and gas fields.

A bill in the House would have the state Internal Affairs Department's Bureau of Topographic and Geologic Survey conduct the project.

The survey would include fields in Erie, Crawford, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Forest and McKean counties; the Pennsylvania portion of Lake Erie and as much of the Lawrence, Beaver, Butler, Clarion, Potter, Tioga, Elk and Jefferson counties as the bureau deemed necessary.

The measure was sponsored by Reps. James K. Davis (R-Forest), Allen M. Gibson (R-Warren), Harry S. Gramlich (R-Venango) and House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean).

TROUBLE ON OIL MATTERS — The rise in oil prices is the subject in this Washington confab among (from left) Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, (D), Wyoming, chairman of the joint Senate anti-trust and public lands committee; Rear Adm. O. P. Lattu, the Pentagon's oil buying chief, and Senator Everett Dirksen (R), Illinois. Lattu testified that the recent hike in oil prices will cose the U. S. an additional $85,000,000 in the next 12 months. The committee is investigating the price rise.

Today in Congress:

Survey Shows House To Okay School Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—A United Press survey showed today the House Education subcommittee will approve a $3.6 billion federal school construction bill.

The $3.6 billion program — proposed by the Democrats — would be spread over a six-year period The administration has proposed a $1.3 billion program spread over four years.

The survey showed that the vote on the larger program would be 6-1 in the subcommittee.

The survey also showed that any proposal to tie an anti-segregation amendment to a school construction bill would be rejected.

The subcommittee has completed two weeks of hearings on school construction legislation The hearings are expected to continue another two weeks.

Other congressional news:

Doctrine: The Democratic-controlled Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees approved a softened version of the Eisenhower Doctrine. Republican senators looked to the White House for a sign on whether to fight when the doctrine reaches the Senate floor for debate next week.

Civil Rights: A Senate subcommittee called Atty. Gen Herbert Brownell Jr. as the first witness in hearings on civil rights legislation. Chairman Emanuel Celler of the House subcommittee studying civil rights legislation said his subcommittee will start drafting a bill Feb. 27.

Oil: Sen Joseph C. O'Mahoney warned oil producers to speed up emergency oil shipments to Europe and cut back prices or face possible federal regulation. O'Mahoney issued the warning as a Senate oil investigation headed by him summoned Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton for questioning.

Letters: Congressmen reported increasingly heavy mail demanding cuts in government spending. Chairman Clarence Cannon of the House Appropriations Committee said he thinks the people mean it this time and maybe Congress will listen.

Ross: Senate investigators planned to continue an investigation of defense contracts acquired by relatives of Assistant Defense Secretary Robert Tripp Ross. Ross, currently on a leave of absence, was questioned for two hours by the Senate investigating subcommittee at a closed-door session.

Water Prankster Causing Havoc In Great Neck

NEW YORK (UP)—Housewives in suburban Great Neck dutifully obeyed during the past week when they answered their telephones and were told:

"This is a recording . . . your water will be turned off for 15 minutes . . . fill up your bathtub, your sink and all receptacles that hold water."

And, as often as not, they have later helped jam the Citizens Water Supply Company's telephone switchboard, now overflowing with demands for an explanation.

R. M. Grieve, vice president of the company, has asked Nassau County Police to help in the emergency.

He wants them to find the person who is making the "recorded" calls and causing the housewives a lot of back-breaking tub and bucket filling and the water supply company a great deal of embarrassment explaning about how water service is as normal as ever and no shutoffs are planned now or in the near future.

No Alcoholic Beverages for Young Soldier

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army has banned the sale of alcoholic beverages on military posts to reservists and National Guardsmen under 18½ years of age who are taking six months' active duty training.

The prohibition, effective immediately, also applies to 3.2 beer (beer containing 3. per cent alcohol by volume) sold at post exchanges.

It was ordered after Rep. Walter Norblad (R-Ore) complained at a House Armed Services Committee hearing that youths were drinking on Army posts.

The Oregon Republican had called attention to the situation last fall. He specifically cited Fort Knox, Ky., and Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Norblad hailed Wednesday's prohibition order as "wise."

"It was just wide open and that's wrong," Norblad said. "I don't think that at the formative age of 17 they (the Army) ought to be selling beer to those kids."

The order does not apply to regular Army recruits unless state law prohibit such sales.

Britain In Test Election

LONDON (UP)— Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's new Conservative government went into its first elections test today with the possibility of losing a seat in the House of Commons.

The by-election, held in the normally Conservative London suburb of North Lewisham, was the first since Sir Anthony Eden stepped out as prime minister. The election will fill a vacancy created by the death of Sir Austin Hudson, a Conservative.

There were indications the economic troubles, oil rationing and loss of national prestige that resulted from Eden's venture into Suez might bring the first Conservative defeat since North Lewisham was set up as a voting district in 1948.

Narrow Margin

The borough gave the Conservatives a narrow margin in the 1955 general elections, but the Socialist Labor Party went into today's balloting a slight favorite.

The candidates provided an odd contrast to the usual pattern of upper-class Tory facing middle-class Labor.

The Conservative candidate, Norman Farmer, is a self-made man who attended local grade schools and has lived in the borough all his life. Labor's Niall MacDermot has an upper crust rugby school and Oxford University background. He was a lieutenant-colonel in World War II and joined the Labor Party only last year.

Making it a three-cornered fight is Miss Leslie Green, secretary of the militant League of Empire Loyalists, who is standing as an independent.

Budenz Has Attack

NEWPORT, R.I. (UP)— Louis Budenz, 65, former editor of the Communist Daily Worker, suffered a heart seizure Wednesday night after delivering a lecture on the Communist Party in America.

Urges Lifting of News Ban

TULSA, Okla. (UP)—The president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors today urged the State Department to lift a ban on newsmen going to Red China.

Jenkin Lloyd Jones, editor of the Tulsa Tribune, made the request to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on behalf of the ASNE board of directors.

"The people of the United States have a right to know through their own reporters about conditions in Red China," Jones said.

"We urge you to restore the right of a free people to have a free press that can freely travel wherever there is information that citizens must have if they are to enjoy the knowledge that intelligent self government requires."

Jones pointed out that Red China ordered non-Communist newsmen out of the country on Oct. 8, 1949, and that the U.S. State Department on May 1, 1952 placed restrictions on travel in Iron Curtain countries. He said this placed American reporters under a double ban.

The Way to Save Is not to Spend

IT IS A GOOD thing in our view if President Eisenhower is as concerned as reporters say he is about the threat of a depression.

It seems mighty funny to be worried about depression while more people are making more money than ever before in the history of the country. But the threat exists, and there will never be a better time to do something about it.

One of the biggest contributors to inflation at the moment is the level of government spending. Federal, state, county and local governments are casting it around at the rate of $110 billion a year, about one-third of all the money earned by all people and all businesses in the United States. And the trend is upward.

As the chief executive of the chief spender, President Eisenhower is strongly obligated to make a start at reversing this trend. He won't find it easy, but he may find it can be his greatest contribution as President.

There are some who think this will be impossible for Ike because he is politically weak. The fact that he is our first lame-duck President, unable to succeed himself, they believe will work against his keeping an administration of optimum effectiveness.

On the other hand, the fact that he can be a political free agent may be his chief attribute in applying statesmanship to the problems of our domestic economy.

* * *

NATIONAL DEFENSE and foreign aid account for the principal expenditures of the government. The most dramatic savings are possible in this area of the budget, of course, but reduction involves immediate high-pitched debate. The President must realize, however, that defending a country that's bankrupt or depression-torn or winning foreign friends at the loss of domestic welfare is certainly unthinkable. There is a limit to what we can spend on defense, and it's the President's job to let us know before we get there.

Beyond the mere reduction of budget items it seems to us the President has a clear-cut responsibility to reduce the scope of government services. A doctrine of modification ought to be devised for getting the federal establishment on a footing of more economic operation, for getting rid of the multiplicity of things which the government does and has no business doing.

Who better than a lame-duck President could slough off these government barnacles and the tremendous burden they represent to the citizens they are supposed to benefit?

Possibly no one can now compute the extent of the handouts to business, labor and agriculture. Some of these may be desirable and necessary. Others of them are not only wasteful but more important they undermine the initiative, the independence and the sense of responsibility of those receiving them. They are examples of government doing for people what people can and should do for themselves — and that is what ultimately destroys political freedom in any country and reduces the individual to the status of a statistic.

The President has frequently expressed himself on the insidious nature of this type of government. He needs now to wield the ax.

It Calls for Change

THE AUTHORITY of the Borough of Charleroi, which furnishes water service locally, is in the unusual situation of having most of its customers outside the boundaries of the borough. There are three principal communities served, and among these Charleroi accounts for less than a third of the total number of water users.

Yet the Authority continues to be manned exclusively by Charleroi residents.

We don't know frankly whether the law as now written permits appointments from outside the Borough of Charleroi. It seems reasonable, however, that a public agency should be permitted representation from all the area it serves or at least from the major segment of that area.

It seems a matter of significance to both Monessen and Donora as principal parties of interest that they be granted membership on the Authority. Either means should be found to broaden the make-up of the group or the Authority in its present form should be dissolved in favor of a more representative body.

If we're going to have a socialized water system, let's let all the society in on it.

The President has bagged a big wild turkey down in Georgia, and while the news reports detailed how big it was there was no emphasis on how wild.

Merry-Go-Round—

Lodge Rejects Opportunity to Be Groundhog

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Handsome, hard-working Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. Ambassador to the U. N., does not want to be a groundhog, not even an honorary one. He made this quite clear the other day to the Slumbering Groundhog Lodge of Quarryville, Pa.

Mr. Pearson

Every year the Groundhog Lodge of Quarryville goes through a ritual to ascertain what the real goundhog thinks about the prospects of a mild and cold winter, an early or late spring. Quite a few distinguished citizens have participated in this groundhog shadow ceremony and become Honorary Groundhogs, including Harry S. Truman and Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

But up in Boston, whence came Ambassador Lodge and where his grandfather was that famed Boston Brahmin, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, who helped defeat Woodrow Wilson's League of Nations, it's said: "The Cabots speak only to Lodges and the Lodges speak only to God."

So, when Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge received the invitation from the Slumbering Groundhog Lodge of Quarryville, Pa., to become an honorary groundhog, his secretary replied:

"Ambassador Lodge has made it a principle since becoming representative at the United Nations not to accept membership in any organization, even honorary membership, if he cannot devote to its activities a portion of his time and energy."

He could devote neither time nor energy to being an honorary groundhog.

Ike Wants School Bill

President Eisenhower emphasized to a secret meeting of Republican Congressional leaders the other day that he wanted the school construction bill passed this year.

When GOP leaders reminded him that the school bill might be derailed by a fight over segregation, he observed:

"Well, I still think the program can be put through without major change. "I am not going to make any more concessions."

A commission which Ike appointed last year reported that construction of more schools would not be enough to solve our education needs for elementary and high school students. The commission also stressed the need for federal funds to attract more and better teachers, by raising salaries. However, the administration rejected this broad proposal.

"It seems to me that the best way is to get the school bill taken up first by the Senate," suggested the President. "Then, we would be in better shape to head off the Powell anti-segregation amendment, which stalled the bill in the last session."

"There's only one thing wrong with that, Mr. President — the Democratic leadership," broke in Senate GOP leader Bill Knowland of California, amid laughs. "Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the majority leader, prefers that both the school bill and the civil rights measure originate in the House. And we Republicans are outvoted by Senator Johnson and the Democrats."

"Well, work it out the best way you can," Ike concluded the discussion.

NOTE: Colleagues generally agree that Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York, a Democrat in name only who supported Ike in the last campaign, is chiefly interested in personal publicity in pressing for his anti-segregation amendment.

Shadow of Depression??

It hasn't been released to the public, but the Commerce Department has sent a report to Congress on the scrap-metal shortage, telling how the Hoover depression is now casting a shadow over the Eisenhower boom.

The report warns that the booming steel industry, whose profits soared over $1 billion in 1956, faces "imminent depletion of high-melting scrap supplies that could lead to a critical shortage" by 1960.

Cause of the shortage goes back to the low production levels and longer use of machinery during the 1930 depression years. This is now beginning to be felt, since high-grade scrap comes chiefly from obsolete machinery and heavy structural steel that was new 30 years ago.

Another blow to scrap supplies will come in the 1970's, the report predicts, because of "heavy war and shipping losses of World War II."

High-melting scrap is the lifeblood of the modern steel industry. The big integrated steel companies use about 40 per cent scrap iron and steel. But the small companies, which don't produce their own ores, use from 70 to 100 per cent scrap.

The unpublished Commerce Department report points out that "domestic consumption and exports during the two-year period of 1954-56 represent all-time high withdrawals of scrap from national sources."

The Test - The Last Obstacle

Today and Tomorrow—

U. S. in Middle East Dilemma

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Both the President and Secretary Dulles were asked at their press conferences last week whether this government would take sanctions if Israel did not withdraw unconditionally behind the armistice lines. The President replied that if the U. N. voted for sanctions, "we are committed to the support of the U. N." This reply does not really answer the practical question, which is whether the United States will use its own vote and its very considerable influence to enable the Arabs, the Afro-Asians and the Soviet blocs to vote sanctions.

Mr. Lippmann

For as the voting blocs are now aligned in the General Assembly, the United States will have the power to decide whether or not sanctions are to be voted. If the United States decides for sanctions we shall carry enough votes with us to provide the necessary two-third majority to vote sanctions. If we decide against sanctions, there will not be enough votes to pass a resolution. It is, therefore, misleading to talk about our being "committed to the support of the United Nations." For how we cast our vote and how we exercise our influence in the General Assembly will determine what action by the U. N. we are committed to support.

The U. N. is not a tribunal which hands down decisions that we must then loyally support. We are ourselves a part of that tribunal, and in what it decides we have a deciding part. We do not have the power to decide affirmatively when the interests of the Arab, Afro-Asian and Soviet blocs are at issue. We do have the power of veto, and by combining with the Arab, Afro-Asian and Soviet blocs we have the power to cause the General Assembly to act affirmatively. We can prevent action or we can support their action. That is where we are in the General Assembly.

Painful Dilemma

The painful dilemma in which we now find ourselves arises from this situation in the General Assembly. The basic fact is that Israel can be coerced if we will vote to coerce her, whereas Egypt cannot, as the Assembly is now constituted, be coerced at all. Israel can be coerced if we do not exercise our veto and instead vote for sanctions. But Egypt cannot be coerced because the Arab, Afro-Asian and Soviet blocs also have a veto, and what is more will certainly use their veto.

We are in a dilemma because there have been two closely related wrongs, two closely related breaches of the law of the United Nations, and yet within the United Nations it is possible to right only one, not both, of these breaches of the law. Israel is a law-breaker because she has invaded the Sinai Peninsula and the Gaza Strip. But Egypt is no less a law-breaker because, despite the armistice, she has waged war against Israel by blocking the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba and by organizing guerrilla warfare across the Israeli frontier.

The problem which confronts the United Nations and the United States is how to get Israel to withdraw, thereby ending her war against Egypt, without putting Egypt in a position to resume her war against Israel. The problem is how to prevent both sides, not merely one side, from waging war.

The controlling fact in the situation is, as I pointed out above, that the General Assembly will, as it is now aligned, exert pressure on Israel but not on Egypt. Nasser is, therefore, in a position to refuse to give any public assurances that he will cease to violate the armistice if the Israeli army withdraws. As a result, those who have been trying to solve the problem have been trying by private diplomacy to work out some kind of arrangement under which Nasser, while giving no public promises, would let it be understood privately that he would not in fact resume his war.

Must Buy Time

At this writing, it does not look as if this sort of thing is going to be worked out — what with Nasser, protected by the U. N. and in a position to stand pat, what with Israel, which is a democracy, unable to stake her security on private assurances of what the President, Mr. Dulles and Mr. Hammarskjold hope and believe they can in the future induce Nasser not to do.

Is there anything else that can be done? As things stand now, if Israel withdraws she will have no assurance from Nasser that he will not wage war. Israel can get no assurances from the U. N. The U. N. will not be permitted to act. All that is left is some kind of assurance by the United States that it will do something about it all in the future.

The easiest thing to do in the present-day United Nations is to prevent it from acting. The obvious thing for us to do is to put off a show-down of votes in the General Assembly and thus to buy time for more secret diplomacy.

Nothing but harm could come of putting to a vote the question of whether sanctions should be taken against Israel in order to compel her to withdraw unconditionally. If we fail to vote such a resolution most of the hope of wooing the Arabs, which is the essence of the Eisenhower doctrine, will go up in smoke. If, on the other hand, we join the Arabs, the Afro-Asians and the Soviets to impose sanctions, the unfairness of the action will have far-reaching and it may well be irreparable consequences.

The friends of U. N. in all the blocs have a vital interest in following the advice of the Secretary General, which is to lay aside the question of sanctions.

Behind The News—

Soviet Campaign to Weaken Allied Ties

By CHARLES M. MCCANN

Soviet Russia is developing a big diplomatic campaign in an obvious attempt to weaken Allied defense cooperation.

Last Friday Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin sent a letter to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer holding out hope of German unification if he would abandon his ties with the Western democracies.

Now Foreign Minister Dmitri T. Shepilov has sent notes to the United States, Great Britain and France outlining a six-point proposal on policy toward the countries of the Middle East.

The Soviet government also has asked that the foreign ministers of the United States, Canada, Britain, France and Russia attend personally a disarmament conference to be held in London next month.

New Plan Expected

It is reported in London that Russia intends to announce some sort of a new disarmament plan at that meeting.

While this campaign is being pursued, the Soviet government is making threats to Britain, France and other countries that they will be targets for atomic weapons if a big war breaks out.

It looks as if the campaign may be the brain child of Shepilov, who succeeded Vyacheslav M. Molotov as foreign minister last June 1 and is spoken of as a coming man in the Soviet ruling circle.

Shepilov went to the foreign ministry after having been editor in chief of the newspaper Pravda, the official organ of the Russian Communist Party.

He was not a newspaper man. He was put into his new post after a long career as a Communist propagandist.

Handsome, disarmingly friendly, more than six feet tall, he is in decided contrast to the dour Molotov.

Shepilov's campaign—if it is his—undoubtedly is aimed partly at covering up Russia's own embarrassments in its relations with its fellow Communist countries in Eastern Europe.

But it probably is aimed also at taking advantage of a period in which the Western Allies, believing that the danger of a third world war is increasingly remote, are trying to reduce defense spending.

Bulganin's letter is unlikely to get very far with old Adenauer. Under him, West Germany is certain to maintain its ties with the Western Allies. Nor is Adenauer the man to believe that Russia has any intention of agreeing to the unification of Germany.

It appears unlikely also that Shepilov's note to the United States, Britain and France is likely to deceive the governments of those countries.

Would Frustrate Doctrine

The six points Shepilov outlines would have the effect of frustrating the aims of the new Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East while leaving Russia free to engage in subversive activities.

The note calls for the "liquidation of foreign bases" in the Middle East, meaning United States bases.

What Russia may propose at the London disarmament meeting, whether or not the foreign ministers attend, remains to be seen. It may be predicted with some certainty that it will sound important but will not offer the necessary guarantees against the danger that Russia would be able to cheat if the Western Allies agreed to abolish nuclear warfare and tear up their defensive alliances.

But Shepilov may figure that, while Soviet enticements may not deceive the Western Allies, it costs nothing to try.

National Affairs—

UN in for Long Look By American People

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP) — Considerable evidence is accumulating that the United Nations is due for a long and maybe chill look by the American people.

This organization of 80 member-nations was accorded a special place among the generally accepted pillars of freedom and representative government along with religion, good works, free public education, home and mother.

Now a magnificently reared 12-year-old, the UN more likely than not must prove title to the special place freedly accorded it at its inception in 1945. The earliest and sharpest complaint against the United Nations was in protest against the use to which the Soviet Union was permitted by the UN Charter to make of its veto power.

A Dead Stymie

That Communist veto was and is always a potential dead stymie to UN council action against major Communist felonies anytime, anywhere. The UN council was able to move in the 1950 Korean crisis only because the Soviet Union delegate earlier had walked out in protest on another matter.

To the veto aggravation now are added others to which Republican Senate Leader William F. Knowland (Calif) invited public attention in a speech here before a university audience. The principal points made by Knowland against the UN to which he is a United States delegate, were these:

—The trend toward UN acceptance of a double standard of international morality.

—The trend toward bloc voting in the UN.

—The aforementioned Soviet use and abuse of the veto.

Compliance Big Factor

Perhaps the most serious damage to the standing of the United Nations in the United States has been its failure or inability to obtain compliance. Among the nations which have flouted the UN council or assembly recently are, in addition to Israel, the Soviet Union on Hungary; India on Kashmir, Egypt on Israeli use of the Suez Canal.

Considering the foregoing, Knowland made a statement which, also, is remarkable: He said that on its record so far, no free nation "dare risk its security on the United Nations' ability to function effectively."

If so, there soon will be many to urge that the UN does not justify its existence, to say nothing of qualifying as anchor-man for U.S. foreign policy. That is the vital role assigned the UN by Presidents Truman and Eisenhower, in turn.

Fairly Spoken—

Our Comedians Are not Necessarily Problems

By MARGARET LATROBE

What's with the clowning business? Those funny fellows, giving us laughs — are they Pagliaccis who help us to laughter so we may not suffer the pain and heartbreak they have known?

Three of our most celebrated comedians — Gleason, Caesar, and Jerry Lewis — have told their stories for publication. Each experienced frustration, grief, and that loneliness caused intense suffering in childhood. Lewis and Caesar tell us frankly of their troubles in throwing off childish antics, their turning to exhibitionism to compensate for feeling unloved and unappreciated.

Mrs. Latrobe

I would be interested in knowing the connection, if any, between the frantic urge toward slapstick comedy and backgrounds of emotional torment. (We wondered why a six-year-old acquaintance always wept when watching Gleason on television. He made her sad. Perhaps she was one of the more perceptive observers. His "Poor Soul" portrayals brought quiet tears to the child; what was funny about humiliation and being always misunderstood?)

If happier childhoods had made these sensitive performers into dull but "well-adjusted" Babbitts, our comedy loss would be great. Still, if such tormented existence is prerequisite to their emergence as comedians, perhaps that price is too high.

Does the sting of cruelty's whip goad these entertainers to win "love" from a public which will "love" them only while they are tops? Are soul-searching articles like these, invitations to greater sympathy — and publicity? Or is there a more serious intent to illustrate how a comedian gets that way?

There are plenty of names on the comedy roster to indicate that all is not frenzy and fright wigs. We still have the Bob Hopes, Jack Benny's, Red Skeltons, Lucille Balls, Joe E. Browns, Bert Lahrs and many others, all of whom have demonstrated their grown-up gsasp of any old problem life deals out.

Yet we can't help wondering why unhappiness made comedians of Caesar, Gleason and Lewis, instead of accountants or insurance brokers?

Heart Fund Is Significant For Local School Girl

Valentine Day and February-Heart-Month has a deep significance for Rosemary Cutter daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Cutter, of Oneida street, as she asks "Let me be your Valentine". In 1953 she underwent a heart operation in Children's Hospital, Pittsburgh

Now the vivacious little girl lives a completely normal life She is a student at St Leonard School and is active in Girl Scouts.

Last year Rosemary helped in the house to house canvass for the Heart Fund, which is conducted annually under the direction of the Monessen Business and Professional Women's Club. She smilingly ran from door to door asking local residents to make their contributions in order that some other little girl or boy might be given the opportunity for a full and happy life.

The 1957 Heart Fund campaign is now underway.

Members of the V. P W. of which Miss Catharine Harris is president have already distributed the familiar red plastic heart coin collectors to all of the local business establishments and are asking full cooperation in filling them. This club will also receive either organization or individual contributions from anyone wishing to make them.

Olga Kernisky is general chairman of the club effort in this drive and she has announced that Sunday, Feb 24, is the date set for the house to house collection Further announcement concerning this visitation will be made later.

PARFAIT PARTY CAKE

2 packages black raspberry-flavored gelatine
3 ½ cups hot water
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 dozen ladyfingers, split
Sweetened whipped cream

Dissolve gelatine in hot water. Add ice cream by spoonfuls and stir until cream is melted. Chill, stirring occasionally until mixture is soft-set. Trim ladyfingers to about 2 ½ inch lengths. Line sides of a 9-inch spring-form pan with the ladyfingers, standing cut ends on bottom of pan. Stir gelatine mixture and pour into pan. Chill until firm. Before serving, loosen ladyfingers around edge of pan with a spatula and remove sides of spring-form pan only. Decorate with whipped cream heart. Yield: 12 servings.

BLUEBERRY PANCAKES

BLUEBERRY HILL

Mix
3 cups flour, sifted with
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
Add
2 cups milk
4 tablespoons melted butter

This will be much too thick. If you have some sour milk, thin them with that, to the consistency of a heavy cream. If not, use a little buttermilk along with sweet milk. However, use something sour. You have no idea how much lighter they will be. Sprinkle with blueberries just before baking. Throw in a handful of fresh or frozen berries as you need them. I like my pancakes to have at leaest five or six berries in each one. Bake them on a hot griddle, either iron or magnesium, without any grease.

YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M. Barber

ADORN YOUR TABLE THIS VALENTINE WEEK with new-fashioned party pie. Make the pie shell and vanilla filling from mixes, and over the red cherry gelatine top, place baked pastry hearts and sprinkle with coconut to resemble lace.

Valentine Theme in Pastries

With the tendency to make Friday and Saturday party nights, it seems as if we should celebrate Valentine week as we do Christmas week rather than just one day. The heart that is the traditional insignia used is an attractive form. We like to use our fancy cutter for cookies or pastries whenever we have a chance.

Edith Barber

While much of the labor has been taken out of pie making by the availability of mixes that make us flaky a pie shell as "Mother used to make" by cutting the fat into flour, we still have to use judgment. Just the right amount of water must be added to make the pastry easy to roll. We need a light touch with the rolling pin.

When it comes to the filling, we can cut the time of preparation by using a pudding mix thickened with gelatine and flavored to suit our taste. A very good combination for this is coconut and what we call pie cherries, which will give a little color as well as flavor.

If you own a spring form, you may like to make a glamorized ice cream dessert with fruit-flavored gelatine, ice cream and ladyfingers, which form the outside coating. For a final touch, there ¼ cup sugetaoin enwyp vbg may be a whipped cream garnish, although this is not necessary recipe given today is certainly a party recipe, as it will serve 12 persons.

NEW-FASHIONED PARTY PIE

1 cup flaked coconut, cut
2 tablespoons butter
1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling
2 cups milk
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
2 teaspoons unflavored gelatine
1 cup cherry juice and water
¼ cup sugar
1 ¾ cups drained canned red sour pitted cherries packed in heavy syrup
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Saute ¾ cup of the coconut in butter in saucepan until golden brown, stirring constantly. Add pie filling mix and milk and blend well. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Cool 5 minutes, stirring once or twice. Pour into pie shell, and chill. Combine gelatine and ¼ cup of the cherry juice. Heat remaining juice and dissolve gelatine and sugar in hot juice. Add cherries and lemon juice. Chill until thick, but not firm. Pour onto chilled pie filling and chill until firm. Cut small hearts from leftover pastry. Bake hearts in hot oven (450 F.) about 10 minutes, or until done. Place on cherry topping and sprinkle remaining coconut around hearts to resemble lace.

MHS to Ask for New Floor Section

Monessen High School officials will soon ask the WPIAL Basketball Committee to spot the Greyhounds in another section. Along with the request, the MHS biggies will "hint" at a new league consisting of Monessen, Charleroi, Donora, McKeesport, Duquesne, Clairton and possibly Monongahela and Munhall. In effect, that would be a merger of the best teams in Section 5 and Section 6. As matters stand now, both sections are cracking. In Section 5, Brownsville, California and Bellmar have indicated that they want elsewhere. It is out of respect for those three schools that Monessen authorities plan to make their request. By so doing, they will save the "also-rans" from the embarrassment of "quitting."

* * *

In Section 6, much the same situation exists. Glassport has told the WPIAL Committee it wants out "or else." Elizabeth is not happy either. The simple solution, then, would be to organize a new section which would include first division quints from both leagues . . . Incidentally the WPIAL Committee just might give serious consideration to the Monessen request. As we get it, the Committee might pay a little more attention to requests from the respective schools now that E. G. Groleau, former Monaca High School principal, has retired as chairman. Groleau ruled pretty much with an iron hand.

* * *

Currie's Grid Salary Will Be $2,000

Rab Currie's football coaching salary at Charleroi has been set at $2,000 for the next three seasons. That must make him the highest paid scholastic mentor in the WPIAL . . . Brownsville High is still looking for football foes to fill dates on September 13 and 20 and October 25 of the upcoming season . . . Dick Groat scored 54 points the other night for the Pittsburgh Pirates who are on a basketball barnstorming tour. Ron Necciai, the former Buc from Monongahela, chipped in with nine points . . . The Fayette County Coaches Association will stage its annual undergraduate basketball tournament at the Uniontown High gym beginning Feb. 26 and extending through March 5.

* * *

Don Mains, Perryopolis High football coach, has been selected to direct the Fayette County All-Star team against Washington County in their annual game next August. Mains will have the right to select his two assistants . . . Greensburg High basketball coach Harold Smith hasn't officially resigned yet, but several district pilots are reportedly interested in the post. Smith expects to resign at the end of the current school year to operate a motel business in Florida . . . Despite a coaching switch at Indiana University, Paul (Pip) Booth is still the school's top bird dog in western Pennsylvania. He's a teacher at Beaver Falls High, who starred in football at both Monongahela High and Geneva College.

Principals Work on Constitution

Big Six principals hope to have a constitution ready before the current school year ends. They've agreed to keep all meetings secret until then, lest information on their progress should "leak" out. There's no hint yet as to what effect the new set-up will have on the annual Big Six banquet, which has been strictly a sportswriters promotion . . . Notre Dame may not have Charleroi's Myron Pottios signed and sealed after all. Ohio State men in the district are betting that the much-wanted Pottios will wind up at Columbus . . . Pitt's home football schedule next season will include Oklahoma, Nebraska, Syracuse, West Virginia and Penn State. On the road, the Pitts will meet Oregon, Southern California, Army, Notre Dame and Miami.

City Loop Quarter-Finals Tonight

Big Five Takes on Ozarks; Viaduct Tackles East End

Big Five will meet the Ozarks tonight at 7:15 and Viaduct will take on East End at 8:30 in quarter-final matches of the City Basketball League playoffs at the Junior High gym.

The winners will begin a best-of-three semi-final series next Monday for the right to meet the undefeated Cro-Ams in the championship brawl.

The Ozarks and East End stayed in the post-season action last night with eyelash decisions.

The Ozarks nipped S-L, 36-34, while East End shaded Fuocos A. C., 53-51.

Both games had the large crowd screaming from start to finish.

The Ozarks won in the final two seconds when Ed Sanc tapped a rebound through the cords. That basket climaxed a nip and tuck game which found the lead changing hands repeatedly.

Many Deadlocks

In the final period, the score was tied four different times. With two and a half minutes to play, Gene Hall put the losers in front 34-32.

However George Lovich came back a minute later to square the score. With just two seconds to play, Lovich missed a foul try but Sanc tapped in the rebound.

Ray Johnson paced the Ozarks with 14 points, while Gene Hall led S-L with 11.

East End and Fuocos also staged a see-saw battle, with the lead going back and forth. It wasn't until the dying seconds that the winners pulled ahead on fouls tossed by Mike Selestak and Gib Corsin.

Mike Trembush led the Fuocos with 22 points. Corsin had 11 for East End.

Definite Underdogs

Both of last night's winners will be definite underdogs this evening.

Viaduct, second place finisher in the regular season standings, figures to have too much stuff for East End, an in-and-out quintet most of the way.

Big Five, well-rested, also looks too tough for the Ozarks who must be tiring now after a couple of tough elimination tests.

Lineups for last night's games follow:

Ozarks 36
Sanc, 3-0-6; G. Lovich, 5-3-13; Beck, 1-1-3; Johnson, 6-2-14; S. Lovich, 0-0-0. Totals, 15-6-36.

No Favorites In 10-Player Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (AP) — Little Gene Littler opened defense of his Texas Open golf crown today, but neither he nor anyone else in the 10-player field was an outstanding favorite in the 30th renewal of the oldest stop on the winter tour.

Only once before has a champion ever been able to repeat in this affair—and that was back in 1928—before many of the young stars of the present touring brigade were born—when Wild Bill Melhorn did it.

The field is going to find that Brackenridge Park's neat little 6,490-yard layout has been removed from the pitch-and-putt class that formerly made it an easy prey to record-hunting pros.

Practice rounds indicated that instead of the 264 average which has won this tournament over the past 10 years, the lion's share of the $20,000 prize money Sunday will likely be taken down with a 268.

This compares with the 257 record which Mike Shouchak set in winning here in 1955.

Seven former winners, including Littler, are in the field, as are all of the current tour champions, including top money winners Doug Ford, Jay Hebert, Bill Casper Jr. and Dow Finsterwald, who edged Don Whitt in a playoff Monday for the Tucson Open crown.

DeLuca, Wiley Speak At All-Sports Fete Sponsored by Lions

Al DeLuca, St. Vincent College football coach, last night reminded Bellmar High athletes of "the three D's—Definition, Determination and Desire."

Speaking at the school's annual all-sports banquet at Twin Coaches, DeLuca said:

"You must be able to define what you want out of life; then have the determination to achieve it and the desire to seek it."

DeLuca's inspirational remarks capped off one of the finest banquets promoted by the three sponsoring Lions Clubs from Belle Vernon, Fayette City and Washington Twp.

Another featured speaker was Jack Wiley, former Pittsburgh Steeler and current assistant coach at Pitt. Besides his witty remarks, Wiley surprised the crowd by introducing two standout Panthers — center Charley Breuckman and tackle Jim McCusker.

Both Breuckman and McCusker entertained their listeners with brief but entertaining talks.

Buscanics TM

Frank Buscanics, WESA sportscaster, served as toastmaster for the affair. Rev. David L. Fisher, of St. Sebastian Church, pronounced the invocation, while Rev. Earl D. Daniel of the Fayette City Presbyterian Church, offered the benediction.

Maynard Jesick, president of the Belle Vernon Lions Club, made the address of welcome while Richard Richardson, president of the Fayette City Lions, introduced the toastmaster.

Later in the program, Harry Stickel, president of the Washington Twp. Lions Club, handled the presentation of awards.

Remarks were offered by Robert Van Breman, supervising principal of the Bellmarette district.

Introductions

Introduced were Joseph Brisbane, elementary school supervisor; George Fee, former supervising principal; Ernest Dolfi, band director; Dr. Harold Underwood, Richard Hamer, Bernard Sarra and Joe Hoffman, all members of the athletic committee; and William Mascara, public address announcer.

Football Coach Bap Manzini introduced his assistant coaches Frank Mizikar and Tom Banjor, then called off his squad.

Basketball coach Jack Flora did likewise.

Entertainment during the banquet was supplied by a senior trio comprised of Carla Butler, Elva Corbin, Marjean Clark, and Mary Ann Fryske; and a trumpet trio of Kenneth Kinik, Barry Stofan and John Moleski, with Mary Jo Shepard, accompanist.

An unexpected singing treat was offered by a quintet of athletes composed of Sam Sellars, Byron Carter, Carl Osborne, Jack Blair and Ralph Greco.

The athletes didn't forget their coaches. Bill Schmidt was selected to present a gift to Flora while John Hewitt made the presentation to Manzini.

Banquet Committee

The banquet committee included Bill Vizza, Dana Roboci, Ray Helterbran, Charles Miller, Guy Winn, Jack Stockton, John Marshall and Don Stephens.

Honored were these athletes:

John Hewitt, Bob Beggs, Lou Nelson, Andy Stefanick, Ralph Greco, Jack Blair, Rudy Houseman, George Cullen, Larry Rankin, Joe Dubinsky, Reg Kostelac, Frank Strenske, Frank Burgess, J. Chicchiana, Sam Sellar, Dennia Swiantek, Bill Sowden, Jake Steinmiller, Bill Mullen B. Lofink, Larry Petras, Percy Cranford, Bill Hammerash, Frank Roskovich, Joe Belsick, Ron Schmidt, Bill Schmidt; and

Tom O'Toole, R. Miller, Bill Kubin, Paul Hayduk, Jim Bitonti, Jim Campbell, Tom Package, Harry Niccolai, J. Halgua, V. Edwards, Bill Barker, Carl Osborne, and Ben Nelson.

The cheerleaders honored included Donice Lehew, Catherine Moskala, Lorraine Berry, Paula Barger, Lou Ann Trozzo and Judy Rizzutto.

Football managers present were Marcelin Delzangle, Bob Kyle, Byron Carter and D. Miller. The basketball managers were Conrad Lupori, Delzangle and Kyle.

Knicks Improve After Criticism

By UNITED PRESS

Maybe all the New York Knickerbockers need is a good tongue-lashing now and then to win in the National Basketball Association.

The beleaguered New Yorkers, subjected to all kinds of criticism by Coach Vince Boryla in recent weeks, snapped out of their latest swan dive Wednesday night to defeat the Rochester Royals, 85-82.

The win brought the Knicks to the .500 mark and moved them out of the Eastern Division cellar past the Syracuse Nationals into third place.

In other action, the Minneapolis Lakers, driving for a playoff spot in the Western Division race, defeated the Eastern Division leading Boston Celtics, 115-114, and the Philadelphia Warriors downed the Fort Wayne Pistons, 99-89.

The red-and-white striped barber pole owes its origin to the days when barbers also practiced surgery.

Officers will be elected during the session.

All persons interested in the PONY baseball program are urged to attend.

National Mixed Tourney Today

BOCA RATON, Fla., (UP — Things may get tougher in the National Mixed Foursome two-ball golf tournament today for the defending champion team of J. Walcott Brown and Ann Quast.

Brown, of Manasquan, N.J., and Miss Quast of Marysville, Wash., had little trouble in Wednesday's opening round of match play defeating W. B. Merry and Ellen Gerry, both of West Palm Beach, 6 and 5.

The medalist team of Jack Penrose, Miam Beach, and Ann Richardson of Columbus, Ohio, defeated Robert Chandler of Washington and Mrs. Jerome Miller of Stamford, Conn., by the same score.

With the field narrowed to 16 teams, competition promised to get tougher today. The finals are Saturday.

Art Larsen Winning Most Important Game

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Art Larsen, the wiry little man with the wolfish grin, always was a fighter so it's no surprise today to learn that he's winning the toughest battle of his embattled life.

The former National Amateur tennis champion was injured critically Nov. 10 when he cracked up on his motor scooter. Severe damage to the left side of the brain required immediate surgery.

There was little hope for his life, at first, but they didn't know "Tappy."

He lived, but at first was only a shell of the old energetic Larsen. He had lost the sight of his left eye, his right side was paralyzed and he was unable to talk. Always slender, he became a breathing skeleton as his weight dropped away.

Walking And Talking

But it was a determined walking and talking Larsen who, according to word from California, hobbled into the California Rehabilitation Center at Kaiser Hospital the other day with the observation:

"I've got the will—if they've got the way!"

He had regained 15 pounds, conquered the paralysis in his face so that again he could speak and slowly was willing movement back into those immobilized limbs.

It's still a long way back. The important thing is that he's fighting it, and yet that's no surprise to his friends.

When he came marching home from World War II he had a serious case of combat fatigue. Art was a machine gunner with the ninth Army's 17th Cavalry. At Brest his outfit was bombed by our own planes. At Bastogne he "had it plenty."

Had To Be Fighter

He was a fighter and had to be as he won the U.S. crown at Forest Hills in 1950. For this was the Eddie Stanky of tennis. He could not run. He could not hit. And he was a scrawny little guy who ignored training with blatant concentration. But he knocked off all the power hitters and took our top net prize.

Later, on a trip to Australia, there was cheering from the gallery as he doublefaulted. Turning defiantly to the press box, Art announced:

"Your crowd stinks! Print that!"

There is no doubt that, armed only with his racquet, he would have willingly taken on the whole gallery. A fighter, this guy.

And he's proving it all over again today.

The first written notes about horseshoes and nails can be traced to the Sixth century B. C., in England.

BIG NEWS ABOUT 3-T NYLON TIRES

New Low Prices on Goodyear 3-T Nylons

Isn't it worth $1.35 more to ride on tire cords stronger than steel?

NYLON CUSTOM SUPER-CUSHIONS

Now, Goodyear's exclusive 3-T Custom Nylon is only $1.35 more than an ordinary cord tire in the popular 6.70 x 15 tube-type black sidewall. No other tire matches it! It has been pounded in tests by pile-drivers, crushed by giant presses, run over jagged rock-roads and railroad ties. Not a single cord was broken!

That's because 3-T Nylon Cord is triple-tempered in a patented process involving precisely-controlled Tension, Temperature and Time—for maximum strength and resiliency. It's stronger on the inside—safer on the outside. And now you can get 3-T Custom Nylons at new low prices. Don't settle for less—get Goodyear's safer, stronger 3-T Custom Nylons today!

MHS Cagers Play Donora Friday

Must Win to Nurse Along Their Flickering Hopes in Section 5

Monessen High's basketballers, still clinging to a faint mathematical hope of overtaking Charleroi in the Section 5 race, will play host to Donora tomorrow.

The Greyhounds must win to nurse along their flickering ambitions.

It's quite possible that Charleroi will clinch the title tomorrow. That will happen if the Cougars win and Monessen loses.

However the Hounds have high hopes against the Dragons. Earlier in the year they handled the Donorans easily, 59-40.

Anticipates Trouble

Coach Frank Janosik anticipates more trouble in the return engagement even though his boys will have the home floor edge this time.

In the earlier meeting, Donora obviously had a bad night. High scoring Dave Russell, in particular, couldn't find the range.

The law of averages figures to make them a tougher foe tomorrow.

Charleroi will go to California. The Cougars already own a 60-33 win over the Trojans, so they aren't expected to work up much of a sweat tomorrow.

A win will clinch at least a tie for the towering Cougars in the Section 5 chase.

Canes Hopeful

Another valley game will send Monongahela to Bellmar. Coach Jack Flora's Canes are hopeful since they beat Monongahela earlier at the Wildcat floor.

In Section 10, pace-setting Derry Twp. faces a possible rough assignment at Ligonier. Other games will send Scottdale to Ramsay and Dunbar to Hurst.

Rostraver, still with some title hope, will go to Brownsville tomorrow afternoon for a 1 p. m. exhibition assignment.

The Section 17 fare will show East Huntingdon at West Newton, Irwin at South Huntingdon and Perryopolis at Sewickley.

At the moment, Irwin heads the race by a game. Right behind are West Newton and Perryopolis

All three leaders are favored to win in Friday tests.

NFL Champ May Wind Up Playing Canadian Titlist

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The National Football League and its former arch rival, the Canadian Professional Football Council, looked today to a future that might see a playoff meeting of their respective champions.

Bert Bell, NFL Commissioner, and Ralph Cooper, Canadian council president, met informally here Wednesday to discuss mutual problems, including claims to player rights which often made the leagues court opponents.

The upshot of the meeting was agreement by the commissioners of pro football on the North American continent that there were "no major differences, nothing which can't be ironed out" facing the two loops.

One vexing problem aired was the status of Don Owen, Mississippi Southern tackle claimed by the NFL's Pittsburgh Steelers and the Canadian league's Montreal club.

Bell said that Owen had agreed to an offer from Pittsburgh, but signed with Montreal for better financial terms. However, Owen received no money from either team and then returned to sign with the Steelers.

Bell said he had approved the Pittsburgh contract but added "now, we must get a legal opinion." Meanwhile, Pittsburgh and Montreal club officials are trying to thrash out the matter, Bell said.

The confab between Bell and Cooper took place with turnstiles still clicking in their ears from profitable 1956 seasons. The NFL had its fifth straight record year at the gate and seven of nine Canadian teams finished in the black.

The two league directors looked ahead to games at the pre-season level.

"The last inter-league meeting was a game between New York and Ottawa in 1952," Cooper said. "But there's a good chance of the teams playing more and more games against each other in the future."

Bell agreed and also nodded assent when it was suggested a world series game between champions of either league could be a fact in the future.

"If there were enough rule changes, that might be possible," Cooper said.

Monessen Fifth Play Host to Uniontown Next

Monessen Fifth Avenue — nine games in front of the Mon Valley Ladies League bowling race — will play host to the Uniontown Axelrods tomorrow at 9:15 p.m.

The Monessen girls are so far ahead in the current race that the outcome may not be significant. However the Axlrods are in second place and they must win to nurse along what little hope they have of overtaking the locals.

Last Friday, Monessen won a pair of games from the Charleroi Grands. Babe Kroskie paced the city team with a 203-537 chart. For the Grands, Tina Toth had 229-463.

In other matches, Uniontown won two games from Bentleyville, Belle Vernon earned a pair from Connellsville; Fredericktown blanked Scottdale and Monongahela swept over Vestaburg.

Scoring Leaders

Scoring leaders in those matches were Libby Nara, 153-427 (Uniontown); Mary Fefolt, 156-451 (Bentleyville); Lona Kuhn, 186-481 (Belle Vernon); Nancy Hudock, 159-396 (Connellsville); Mae Jenaway, 167-464 (Fredericktown); Inez Eckman, 140-399 (Scottdale); Ann Huasher, 139-362 (Vestaburg); Pearl Woodward, 161-446 (Monongahela).

Standings show Monessen, 57-12; Uniontown, 48-21; Donora, 46-23; Fredericktown, 42-47; Monongahela, 38-31; Charleroi Grands, 37-32; Bentleyville, 35-24; Connellsville, 34-35; Belle Vernon, 25-44; Scottdale, 25-44; Vestaburg, 20-49.

Balmers Sweep In Hearth Loop

Balmers blanked Whitehouse in Open Hearth Bowling League action last night.

In other matches, Maykovich took a pair of games from Minardis while Weddells won two from the Van Marters.

Standings show Weddells, 12-6; Maykovich, 11-7; Minardis, 10-8; Balmers, 9-9; Van Marters, 8-10; Whitehouse, 4-14.

St. Francis blanked Fordham in St. Cajetan Bowling League action last night.

Other matches found Notre Dame winning a pair from St. Vincent and Duquesne taking two from Georgetown.

Scoring leaders were Angelo Pro, 220-465; Jim Zimmaro, 158-400; Tom Dalfonso, 178-446; Anthony Santoro, 161-408; Patsy Santoro, 165-461; Joe Bafile, 178-521.

Standings show Notre Dame, 10-5; Duquesne, 9-6; Georgetown, 8-7; St. Vincent, 8-7; St. Francis, 8-7; Fordham, 2-13.

100 Drivers Compete in NASCAR Races

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Nearly 200 of the nation's top stock car drivers gunned their sleek vehicles up to speeds of well over 100 miles per hour today in the qualifying trials for the week-sportsman and modified cars.

along the five-mile beach straight.

One hundred drivers whizzed end's three big NASCAR races. mile race for late model convertithe clock for positions in the 160-tions in Friday's 125-mile race for Between 0 and 40 raced against bles Saturday and 60 competed for a way to determine starting positions in the 160 mile Grand National for late model closed cars Sunday. The Grand National is the finale of the two weeks of annual speedweek competition here.

Wednesday's competition saw one track record fall as John Zink Jr., of Tulsa, Okla., gunned his regulation 1957 Pontiac to an average of 16.570 miles an hour. This was six mile san hour faster than the old Class 6 mark set last year.

Martin Service Wins Three Games

Martin Service blanked American Torch and Williams won a pair of games from Lincoln in Welders League bowling last night.

Top scorers were Jack Ralston, 159-405; George Senetta, 192; Don Ritzer, 443; Joe Koget, 182-440; Norman Zanardelli, 187-506.

Standings show Williams, 14-7; American Torch, 11-10; Martin Service, 10-11; and Lincoln, 7-14.

Florists Lead In Parlors Loop

Florists blanked the Diethornes and Ravens won a pair from Mihalich in Grand Parlors City League bowling last night.

Scoring leaders were Art Palm, 191-549; Ed Kroskie, 188-505; Bill Valko, 248-505; Charles Daugherty, 183-543; Tom Conti, 204-529.

Standings show Florists 14-7; Mihalich, 11-10; Diethornes, 10-11; Ravens, 7-14.

Delany Shoots At Mile Mark

NEW YORK, (UP)—Ron Delany of Ireland and Villanova, who entered the national indoor mile championship Wednesday, will be shooting to become the first runner since Glenn Cunningham in 1938-39 to win the event two years in a row. Except for Gil Dodds, who won the race in 1942, 1944 and 1947, no other runner has won the indoor mile more than once in the last 18 years.

Brown TKO's Smith In Eleventh Round

MIAMI BEACH (UP)— Jubilant Joey Brown, fresh from a TKO victory in his first defense of the lightweight crown, aimed at some "fast, big money" today in a May title bout with southpaw Kenny Lane.

Brown received $15,924 for stopping ex-champ Wallace (Bud) Smith in the 11th round of their return title fight Wednesday night before a sellout crowd of 4,129 at Miami Beach Auditorium.

It was the first purse for lanky Joe of New Orleans since he won the 135-pound crown from Smith of East Orange, N.J., last Aug. 24. And, although it was the largest of his career, he said, "That's peanuts compared to what I'll make—now that Smith is out of the way and my right hand is in good shape."

Lane Logical Opponent

Truman Gibson, executive secretary of the International Boxing Club, said, "Since Brown wants to make money in a quick fight, his logical opponent is Kenny Lane—a good puncher who can really test the champion's chin."

Champion Brown, 30, registered his eighth straight win Wednesday night when Dr. Alexander Robbins examined Smith in his corner after the end of the 10th round and waved his hands to signify that the bout was stopped. Smith was bleeding from a cut inside his mouth, and he claimed he had been unable to see properly from his left eye after a blow in the fourth round.

Smith, weighing 134 pounds to Brown's 134¾, suffered his fifth straight defeat and his third consecutive loss to champion Joey. Smith lost the title on a split decision to Brown at New Orleans last August, after having been outpointed by Brown in a non-title 10-rounder three months earlier.

Wrist In Shape

Brown fractured his right wrist in the second round at New Orleans, but the mitt was in good shape Wednesday night — as he did a fast-stepping weave from side to side, avoiding awkward Bud's attempted rushes, and sharp-shooting at him with long left jabs and straight rights.

Smith's legs appeared to be "gone." At 27, he no longer was able to step in with his old crushers against a fast-moving opponent.

Brown was winning in such lopsided fashion when the bout was stopped that only one of the three ring officials credited Smith with a single round. The voting on a 10-points-must basis, at the end of the 10th, was 100-91, 99-92, 100-91. Smith landed a few good left hooks in the fourth and eighth sessions.

However, Bud's attack generally was so pathetic and Brown's evasive footwork was so successful that it was a dull bout, and the fans were yelling for action after the fifth round.

Four Yankee Pitchers Are Still Holdouts

By UNITED PRESS

Casey Stengel was back at the old stand today, leading Yankee ball players on the field and not the least bit concerned that four of his top pitchers are balking at salary terms.

Stengel officialy opened the Yankees' rookie school at St. Petersburg, Fla., and the varsity baterymen are due to report there to him in less than two weeks.

Right now, though, Don (Perfect Game) Larsen, Johnny Kucks, Tommy Byrne and Tom Sturdivant are among the 17 Yankee players who are unsigned.

The Yankees raised their signed total to 24 when they announced the receipt of contracts from outfielders Norm Siebern and Bob Martyn, both candidates for the left field job.

Wertz Signed

Vic Wertz, who came back from a polio attack to lead the Indians in slugging last year with 32 homers and 106 runs batted in, signed his contract for an estimated $25,000.

Second baseman Nellie Fox, who batted .296 with the White Sox in 1956, agreed to terms after receiving a slight raise over his last year's salary.

Outfielder Gale Wade was the 32nd member of the Cubs to agree to terms, while the Red Sox announced the signing of shortstop Milt Bolling and pitcher Russ Kemmerer.

Sign With Phillies

Pitchers Saul Rogovin and Ron Negray accepted terms with the Phillies, making a total of 20 players they have signed, while the Tigers announced the signing of catcher J. W. Porter.

Only rookie Curtis Barclay remains unsigned with the Giants, they announced, following the receipt of signed contracts from infielders Daryl Spencer and Foster Castleman and pitcher Jim Constable.

Pitcher Mike Fornieles became the 36th member of the Orioles to sign his contract.

Trojans on Top In GAPA Loop

Trojans blanked the Irish and Bulldogs won a pair from the Panthers in GAPA League bowling last night.

Top scorers were Jim Peters, 173-457; Kass Kootsouradis, 171-461; Paul Ciccarelli, 153-440; Chuck Miller, 166-420; and Foster Loulis, 151-421.

Standings show Trojans, 11-7; Bulldogs, 11-7; Irish, 7-11; and Panthers, 7-11.

Chet Forte Regains Scoring Lead As Columbia Mauls Penn, 93-75

By UNITED PRESS

A record-busting 45-point spree catapulted Chet (The Jet) Forte, the "champion of the little man," back into the national basketball scoring lead today ahead of seven-foot Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain.

Five-nine Forte of Columbia needed a whopping 42 points in Wednesday night's tussle with Pennsylvania and he did it with three free throws to spare in a 93-75 triumph, smashing three scoring records and tying the Ivy League single-game record.

With 513 points in 17 games, the Little Lion now boasts an average of 30.2 points against 29.94 for Chamberlain of Kansas and 29.90 for six-five Grady Wallace of South Carolina.

Tourney Hopes Rise

Forte's feat helped keep alive Columbia's hopes of an NCAA tourney berth through overtaking Yale in the Ivy League or through a member-at-large berth.

The "David vs. two Goliaths" scoring battle once again overshadowed another of North Carolina's close brushes with disaster. The nation's No. 1 team and only major unbeaten squad managed to push its record to 20-0 but only by an eyelash in a 72-69 win at home over Wake Forest.

It was the fourth straight "squeaker" for the Tar Heels and the fourth straight game in which chunky Tommy Kearns saved the bacon. Wake Forest, ranked 14th nationally, had rallied from an 11-point deficit to trail by only 68-67 with 64 seconds left when the five-11 Tar Heel junior from Bergenfield, N.J., took charge. His two free throws with 45 seconds left boosted the edge to 70-67.

After Carolina added a free throw and Wake Forest a basket, Kearns dribbled for 13 seconds before being fouled and added the final point with just one second to go.

Bradley, the nation's No. 5 team, gained a tie with Wichita for first place in the three-cornered Missouri Valley race by whipping St. Louis' zone defense, 76-70. Jack Mimlitz of St. Louis took scoring honors with 20 points, but his team dropped to a 7-2 mark while Bradley moved up with Wichita at 7-1.

Seton Hall scored the biggest upset, 102-87, over 11th-ranked Canisius as speedy Dick Gaines hit for 34 points. Eighth-ranked Louisville scored 40 points in the first 12 minutes and cruised to a 99-79 win over Marquette despite Mike Moran's 29 points.

A slim schedule tonight features tourney-hopeful Utah in a key Skyline Conference game against Montana, 19th-ranked Dayton at home against Regis and a Madison Square Garden twin bill with Niagara-St. John's (N.Y.) and Manhattan-NYU.

Geneva Dumps St. Frances as Blair Scores 24

By UNITED PRESS

Geneva's ace pointmaker, Billy Blair, led the covenanters to their 14th victory of the season Wednesday night as they dumped St. Francis College of Loretto, 90-58. Blair scored 24 points, all on field goals.

The Covenanters, who have dropped five games, had things their own way from the start, with Grove City 82, Fenn (Cleveland) 64; Westminster 65, Waynesburg 40.

Penn State froze the ball in the final 70 seconds to preserve its narrow lead. Bucknell set the pace from the start and led until midway in the second half when the Nittany Lions tied it. In the remaining time, the lead changed hands nine times.

Juniata Scores 112

Juniata set a school scoring record in defeating Dickinson, breaking the previous mark of 107 points set last year against Grove City.

Grove City's victory over Fenn was its 11th of the season. Gary Peters scored 30 points on 14 goals and two foul shots to pace the Crimson.

Westminster's victory at Waynesburg was easy for the Titans, who led, 32-18, at halftime and had 10 players enter the scoring column.

In an exhibition game at Pittsburgh, Carnegie Tech defeated the touring Israeli Olympic team, 66-49, before 4,000 fans. Fifteen Tech players saw action against the outmanned visitors.

Rookie Goalie Paces Bruins In NHL Race

By UNITED PRESS

Things are looking up for the Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League race and all because of rookie goalie Don Simmons.

The Bruins, who have won six of their last 10 games since Simmons took over in the nets for the retiring Terry Sawchuk, battled to a 2-2 tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs Wednesday night. The tie enabled the Bruins to move into a second-place deadlock with the Montreal Canadiens, only four points away from the pace-setting Detroit Red Wings.

Simmons turned aside 28 shots, some of them on the spectacular side, to keep the Bruins in contention. Boston scored both of its gals in the first period and then Simmons took over, turning back many threats to keep the game under control.

Don McKenney and Vic Stasiuk scored for Boston in the first period, while Tim Horton netted one for the Leafs in the same sessin. George Armstrong's 45-footer in the middle period bounced off Simmons' chest and skidded in to knot the score.

Japanese Players To Join Dodger Training Camp

TOKYO (UP)— The most promising battery in Japan's two professional baseball leagues will join the Brooklyn Dodders' spring training camp at Vero Beach, Florida, for one month, it was announced today.

Fumitaro Watanabe, owner of the Yomiuri Giants, told the United Press that righthander Sho Horiuchi, 21, and catcher Shigeru Fujio, 22, and Giants' Manager Nobuyasu Mizuhara will leave Tokyo by plane Feb. 26 to join the Dodgers in Florida.

The Dodgers, who played an exhibition series here last fall, were impressed with the sharp overhand hooks of Horiuchi and the splendid throwing arm of Fujio.

Watanabe said the Dodgers had offered to sign Horiuchi and Fujio to play for one year with a triple "A" minor league club in the U.S.

"But the Giants could not spare the two in the 1957 season which we expect will be a tough one for us to repeat as pennant winners," Watanabe said. "They will be back in Japan in time for the opening of the Central League season on March 31."

There are between 1,800 and 2,000 rooms in the Palace of Versailles, France.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of Rev. Mary Richey who died one year ago today, February 14, 1956.
Her heart so kind, so loving, so true,
Loved and respected by all whom she knew.
To an active life came a sudden end,
She died as she lived — everyone's friend.
A bitter grief, a shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
Sadly missed by Ladies Bible Class of the Webster Methodist Church

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Ernest Jackson, who died three years ago, February 14, 1954.
As we loved him, so we miss him,
In our hearts he is ever near,
Loved, remembered, longed for always,
Bringing many a silent tear.
Sadly missed by Wife and Son

Senator Accuses USW Head of Creating Inflation

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) has accused the head of the United Steelworkers' Union of creating the current inflationary trend by winning "undue wage increases" for his union.

"One man started the latest inflationary spiral — the head of the steelworkers union — when he won undue wage increases," Goldwater said.

Although he did not name USW President David J. McDonald, the Republican senator said he did not believe the union head acted maliciously but thought he was getting the pay hikes for the best interest of the workers.

Goldwater appeared Wednesday at a joint session of the annual convention of the National Sand and Gravel Assn. and National Ready-Mixed Concrete Assn.

The Arizona senator said that management also could do more to hold down inflation. He said "management should argue more, not just agree to raise wages and then tack it on to the prices."

Goldwater told a press conference earlier that he believed that Teamster leader Dave Beck would be called before a committee investigating racketeering in labor-management relations. He said that he believed only a small portion of organized labor is involved in racketeering.

Britons Are Worried Over Big Migration

(The last of two dispatches on the massive migration of Britons abroad.)

By DANIEL F. GILMORE

LONDON (UP) — In the rosy glow of Queen Elizabeth II's coronation in 1953, Britons spoke of a new "Elizabethan Age."

Since Suez, the glory has turned to ashes. Britons are fleeing their homeland in alarming numbers — 6,000 a month to Canada, 56,000 a year to Australia, 850 enquiries a day at the New Zealand office. Only shipping space limits the exodus.

Officially, both the Queen and her consort, Prince Philip, encourage migration. Both the Conservative government in power and the Labor party in opposition support it. After all, they say, the flight is to the Commonwealth—the tie to the Crown is still there.

But privately thinking Britons are worried, and government officials are aghast at the loss of the cream of the nation's youth, its technicians and scientists. Britain seems in danger of losing its "brains."

Nation Of Oldsters

Conservative O. J. Alport, under secretary for Commonwealth relations, told the House of Commons during debate on the "Empire Settlement Bill," which encourages migration to the Commonwealth:

"Emigration should be based on a cross-section of the population . . . lest Britain be left with an unsupportable residue of the aged and infirm."

Alport said that nine-tenths of those going to Canada and five-sixths of the Australia-bound were under 45 years of age. The 1953 Canadian figures show that one-fifth were managerial workers or professional men. The percentage has since jumped.

While both the Conservative and Labor Party platforms still endorse emigration, the parties make political hay blaming each other for the flight.

When he took office, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said, "Britain has been great, is great and will stay great provided we close our ranks and get on with the job."

Many of the English themselves admit that, whether it comes to running a railroad or a grocery shop, they aren't "getting on with the job."

"Why work harder and earn more since we will be taxed more?" they say in reply to charges of laziness. "It's not worth the effort. The man who doesn't work as hard gets as much out of life. Nobody is starving here."

No one is starving. But the ambitious tend to get out.

The liberal London News Chronicle said last week, "Thousands of people are leaving this country. They're going—and we might as well face it—because they've had all they can take . . .

"Give them one good reason—just one—why they should stay."

More Bodies Found

HONG KONG (UP) — Rescue workers today found eight more bodies buried in the rubble of a tenement leveled by fire Wednesday. It brought the death toll to 39.

Getting Sick, Tired of Same Old Vegetables

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)— Man in our office who is a bachelor and cooks his own food every night when he gets home from work has come up with what seems to be a valid, but rather eerie, beef.

Valid complaint, that is—not a valid haunch.)

He claims he's getting darn well fed up with the stock of vegetables now available to mankind.

"Every day, every day, same dull, crazy old vegetables," he says. "Potatoes, beans, peas, carrots, corn — nyaah! What a mess of sameness! Why can't we get some new ones? Why doesn't somebody do something about it?"

Where's all our big know-how?"

Well, where?

Proposes Cross Breeding

"I'll tell you where. It's busy turning out new car models and new refrigerator models and new ice cream flavors every year and never giving a thought to the vegetable crisis. These vegetables we've got probably were all right when they were new. But there's no inspiration now in cooking and eating the same nyaah he sticks out his tongue when he says this word) stuff all the time."

All right, where do you propose to get the new ones?

"Cross breeding, of course," said our man. "Where do you think grapefruit came from?"

Out of the nowhere into the here.

"Don't try to be funny about the vegetable situation. It's plenty serious. If they can cross fruits, they can do it with vegetables."

Well, dizzy with our man's brainwave, we took a quick poll to see what ideas people had for new vegetables. Struck pure gold on the first try. This was from a copyreader, a genius named Otto.

Succotash On Cob?

"Succotash," he answered without a whit of hesitation. "That's what. And it should be available as succotash-on-the-cob, growing with first a lima bean and then a grain of corn, alternating."

Informed that this was novel, but hardly a new taste sensation, he suggested crossing tomatoes and potatoes—and calling the result a bloody spuddy.

Someone else suggested crossing beets and turnips so you could get a reasonable imitation of blood, at least, out of a turnip — or burnip, if that's what it was called. Maybe we should leave the ideas to some one else.

But there was a man in our town once who, in the years before World War II, made a noble effort along this line. His name was Samuel Untermyer and he was a very rich man and a famous lawyer and investigator. He didn't shun his duty toward mankind.

On his estate in Yonkers he had 60 gardeners supervising 60,000 plants. His noblest experiment was with melons. While they grew, he had attached to them little tubes leading up to bottles. In the bottles were such things as gin, bourbon, creme de menthe, sherry.

Untermyer died in 1940, and the project never seemed to get, as it were, off the ground. The world, alas, has no fruitstands laden with rye-watermelon or martini-grapefruit (or simply, grapefruitini).

Pity.

Your Health—

Medical Diary Helpful To Your Physician

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Diaries make interesting reading. And sometimes they can be extremely valuable to a physician when he is seeking the cause of a particular illness.

If your child has migraine headaches, for example, it might be a good idea to keep a diary about him. It doesn't have to be the colorful day-by-day report we might find in the diary of a high school teenager, but keep an account of all his headaches.

Jot down a description of the symptoms and how long the attack lasts. Note also any factors which might precipitate the attack.

This is information which uusally is difficult for a doctor to obtain from a youngster. It may be very helpful in prescribing treatment.

Generally, though, about the best way of relieving childhood attacks of migraine is by the simple use of acetylsalicylic acid.

Sounds like pretty potent stuff, doesn't it? Actually, you've probably got a lot of it in your home this very minute. Acetylsalicylic acid is a fancy name for plain aspirin.

Aspirin should be given early in the attack. If the chil dalready has started vomiting, you can get suppositories containing acetylsalicylic acid.

In severe cases, your doctor might also recommend rectal suppositories of a combination of caffeine and ergotamine tartrate.

If the youngster has any trouble with his eyes, ears, nose or throat, these, of course, should be corrected.

There's something else you parents can do, too. If your child has migraine headaches you may be exerting too much parental pressure on him. Frequently, this is the case. Don't be too demanding in his school work.

And don't, above all, insist that he darry on a full schedule of activities such as music lessons and the like outside of school if he suffers from migraine. After all, a child can do only so much.

'The Steel Hour' Has Plans to Vary Programs

NEW YORK UP — "The U.S. Steel Hour," one of TV's veteran drama shows, will get the shot-in-the-arm treatment from here on in.

Except for one brief fling into the musical field last Thanksgiving, the Steel Show has stuck pretty closely to an unvarying dramatic format since it was launched back in October, 1953.

But Marshall Jamison, producer of the CBS-TV program in cooperation with the Theatre Guild, is hatching plans right now to expand its horizons.

"One of the things we have coming up in March, for example, is a calypso show," said Jamison. "The thing will be based on a Robert Louis Stevenson story, 'The Bottle Imp.' It'll be set in Jamaica and we'll weave the island music right through it.

Jamison, a 38-year-old veteran of the Broadway wars, has been shepherding the Steel Hour since last June. The CBS-TV show faces tough rating competition in its Wednesday time slot opposite NBC-TV's "This Is Your Life."

"What we're trying to do is to vary our programs so as to expand our audience, appeal to all tastes," observed Jamison. "We hope to make a lot more people aware of the program."

Williamson in Charge Of Turnpike Board

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission today operated under the direction of Dr. Merritt A. Williamson, a Pennsylvania State University professor and Gov. George M. Leader's latest appointee to the agency.

Williamson was named to the newly-created post of vice chairman and automatically elevated to the acting chairmanship at a meeting of the commission Wednesday.

The dean of the College of Engineering at Penn State took over the duties of suspended Chairman G. Franklin McSorley, Pittsburgh. McSorley and Republican holdover Commissioner James F. Torrance, Export, were forced to step aside by the governor pending disposition of indictments returned against them and 21 others by a Dauphin County grand jury.

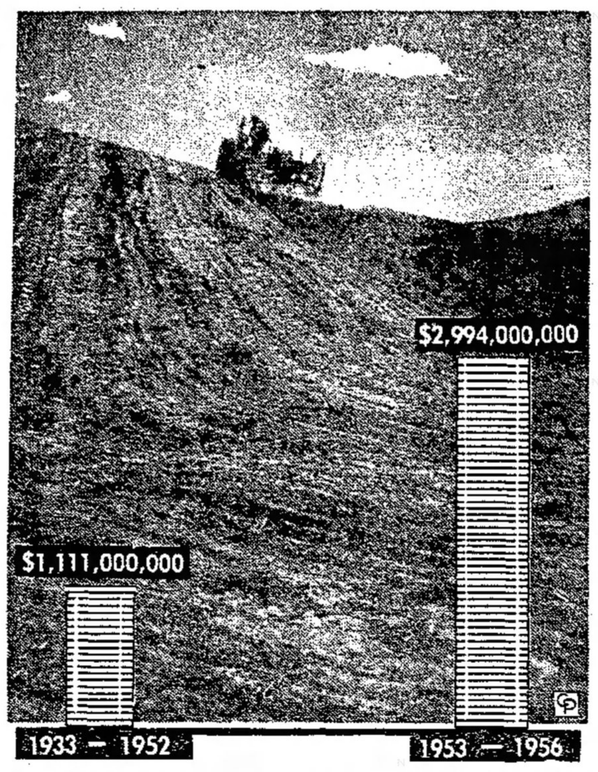
Neither McSorley nor Torrance attended the meeting although McSorley indicated previously he would ignore the suspension order. Both plan to fight it in the courts, however.

Williamson, a Republican, fills the vacancy created by the death last year of David E. Watson, Philadelphia. He was appointed to give the commission a working quorum. The other members are Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler and John F. Byrne, both Democrats.

The commission suspended without pay John D. Paul, Harrisburg, as assistant chief engineer. Paul was among those indicted by the grand jury.

The agency informally received a new schedule of proposed toll revisions from the firm of Michael Baker, Jr., Rochester, Pa., its consulting engineers. But Williamson said the report will not be released until reviewed by the commission and the governor.

Cause of most headaches is migraine or muscular tension associated with anxiety and emotional strain.



CURRENT AID TRIPLE 1933-52 — This picture-chart illustrates the report of the Commodity Credit corporation that the government's losses in supporting farm prices were nearly three times greater during the first administration of President Eisenhower, 1953 through 1956, than in all the previous 20 years of farm programs, from 1933 through 1952. As of Dec. 31, 1956, the government owned surplus farm products costing $5,892,000,000, and had issued loans amounting to $2,319,000,000 on crops withheld from market by farmers.

Georgia in Move to Impeach Six Justices

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP)—Gov. Marvin Griffin's move to impeach six justices of the U.S. Supreme Court, including Chief Justice Earl Warren, was attacked today as a "shabby device."

Griffin's lieutenants planned to introduce formally in the Georgia House of Representatives today a resolution accusing Mr. Warren, Justices William O. Douglas, Hugo Black, Felix Frankfurter, Tom Clark and Stanley F. Reed of "high crimes and misdemeanors."

At least three other states were expected to join in Georgia's move in retaliation for decisions outlawing forms of segregation in the South. They are Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Desegregation Not Mentioned

The resolution does not mention desegregation decisions handed down by the Supreme Court. But most of its citations concern participation of the justices in decisions which sponsors considered "soft" toward Communists or illegal usurpation of states rights.

President Jacob S. Potofsky of the Sidney Hillman Foundation attacked the resolution for mentioning Douglas' acceptance of a $1,000 foundation award.

The resolution said Douglas and Black accepted "awards of money and things of value" from Communist front organizations while members of the court.

It referred to a dispatch published by the New York Times reporting the presentation of the Sidney Hillman Award to Douglas citing him as "one of the most steadfast guardians of our individual liberties."

Claims Smear Campaign

Potofsky called this "a perfectly shabby device" to "smear" Douglast by calling the foundation "as Communist . . . by innuendo."

Potofsky listed former recipients of the award as including former President Truman, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Roman Catholic Bishop Bernard J. Shiel of Chicago; former Sen. Frank P. Graham of North Carolina, former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman of New York, Sen. Wayne D. Morse of Oregon and former Social Security Administrator Oscar Ewing.

"No one but a bigot would characterize any of this distinguished company as Communist or pro-Communist," Potofsky said.

He said the foundation "honored Justice Douglas in 1952 because they regarded him as a great American . . ."

The resolution accused all six justices of "attempting to subvert the Constitution of the United States and of high crimes and misdemeanors in office and of giving aid and comfort to enemies of the United States."

Want Congress to Help the Disabled

HARRISBURG (UP) — Three state senators want Congress to relax requirements for Social Security benefits to totally disabled persons over the age of 50.

A resolution introduced by Sens. John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland), William J. Lane (D-Washington) and James S. Berger (R-Potter), said that although the Social Security Act was recently extended to cover the aged and disabled, "The law is difficult to interpret and administer and the few persons who come within its general scope are unsuccessful in obtaining benefits."

Outline Plans for Campaign To Conduct Pre-Easter Service

The publicity and attendence committee for the pre-Easter services of the Fayette City Methodist Church have outlined a campaign for what it hopes will bring out a large congregation each of the four evenings of March 12, 13 14 and 15.

Methidost ministers from th Pittsburgh area will speak.

The pre-Easter program als includes a special Ash Wednesda service on March 6 and a Work Day of Prayer service, Friday March 8. A series of communit services during Holy Week an the Good Friday service will als be held.

The committee met Mond a evening in the church social rooms with the heads of each Sun d a School class, Sunday School superintendents, minister and a churc trustee present. It felt that th best way of reaching the grestes number of people was to contact the churches in the neighbori n g communities and to keep t h e i r own congregation informed of the program through personal contacts and letters.

Each class president was instructed that it was his duty to contact class members and check attendance.

The meeting during the w e e k beginning March 12 will be an informative session as well as inspirational. Commission heads of vangelism, missions, and finance ill bring to the attention of the iembers the methods of operating each branch in the Pittsburgh onference.

Special music will be provided luring the week by the choir, unler the direction of Mrs. Wellingon Baldwin.

Woman's Club in Successful Party

The card party held by the Fayette City Woman's Club was considered a big success by the committee in charge. Nineteen tables of contract and auction bridge, five hundred and euchre were in play in the club rooms of the Community Center.

Mrs. Stephen Figel, Mrs. Richard Auther and Mrs. LeRoy Gardner were co-chairmen of the committee in charge.

Ladies Guild to Hold Card Party

The Ladies Guild and Christian Mothers of St. Edward Catholic Church are sponsoring a card party this evening in the church social rooms.

Euchre, five hundred and cootie will be in play. The party is open to the public. Prizes will be given and refreshments served.

Methodist Class In Valentine Party

The N.C.T.S. class of the Fayette City Methodist Church will hold a Valentine party tomorrow evening at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Fred Stockton, Perryopolis R.D.

The games will be in charge of the president, Mrs. Clare n c e Young.

Dulles Planning Australian Trip

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is planning a quick trip to Australia early next month to attend a meeting of the eight-nation Southeast Asian Treaty Organization (SEATO).

Administration officials said today that Dulles will be in Canberra, Australia, for the SEATO conference March 11, 12 and 13.

Mrs. Vesely Is Honor Guest on 80th Birthday

A birthday cake with 80 candles shared the spotlight with M r s. Frances Vesely, of Gillespie. Sunday noon when she celebrated the anniversary of her birth.

With Mrs. Vesely at a dinner in the Vesely home were her eight sons and daughters with their families.

The cake was made by Mrs. Peter Vesely and was shared by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vesely, and their four children, P. J., Joey, Mary Frances, and Peggy; Dr. and Mrs. John Vesely, of Brownsville, and four children, Stephen, Mary Agnes, Linda and Cheryl Saust; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vesely and two children, Vick and Chris; Ann Vesely, guidance director of Bellefonte High School and Steve, Mary, Frances and Margariete, at home.

Mrs. Vesely, an active member of St. Edward Catholic Church, Fayette City, enjoys good health. She was born in Austria-Hungary and came to Gillespie in 1900 where she and her husband, the late Peter Vesely, established a grocery store and her sons began a prosperous moving business.

UN to Decide on Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Informed sources said the United States will vote today for a full debate on the Soviet Union's "absurd" charges that U.S. foreign policy shows "aggressive tendencies."

The General Assembly's Steering Committee scheduled a meeting to decide whether to prolong the current session by placing the Russian charge on the already-crowded agenda.

The sources said even though the United States and other Western nations considered the Soviet accusations propaganda, the U.S. will vote for the debate to give the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East a full airing in the world body.

The assembly originally had hoped to adjourn by Feb. 15 but the Hungarian and Middle East situations threw the schedule off balance. The assembly has at least another week of routine work.

The Steering Committee planned to meet Wednesday but had to postpone the session until this morning because of prolonged voting on the Algerian question in the main political committee.

The General Assembly was summoned to meet this afternoon to take final decisions on the Political Committee's actions on Algeria and disarmament. There was no indication when the assembly would take up the Middle East question again.

Webster Joint Service Held

The community service of Webster was held Sunday in the Presbyterian Church with William Maurer as leader. The Rev. Dave Cornell, who was accompanied by his wife, was the principal speaker.

The director of World Wide Evangelistic Crusade, Mr. Cornell spoke on "Truth is Spread by Life, Lips and Literature".

The sixth anniversary of the community service will be observed on Feb. 17. Maurer spoke on the beginning of the service and traced its history. He said that many guest speakers have addressed services.

Mrs. Peroney Is Honored at Party

A birthday supper was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Humbert Peroney, of R. D. 3, Belle Vernon, in honor of Mrs. Peroney.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Peroney and children, Virginia and Billy; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Peroney and sons, Bruce and Brad, and Mr. and Mrs. George Waggett and children, Bobby, Francis and Barry.

Choir Committee

The committee for the Youth Choir of Rostraver Township will meet Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Madge Hamilton. The choir will practice tonight at 7:45 in Webster Methodist Church.

Boy Scout Recognition Service at Fells Church

A Boy Scout recognition service was held Sunday at Fells Methodist Church. The theme was "Onward for God and My Country."

Following an organ number by D. M. Winchell, the group joined in the pledge of allegiance and sang the "Star Spangled Banner". The Rev. Henry Frank gave the invocation. Scoutmaster Robert Murphy led the scout litany and Bradley Hixenbaugh sang a vocal solo.

Explorer Scout Harry Beck read from the scripture and William Van Ryn, chaplain, gave a talk. Following an accordion solo by Richard Dolfi, the Freedoms Foundation awards were made by Scout Commissioner John Dragan.

Various scout leaders were introduced by Tom Filburn, institutional representative, and James Fish, committee chairman, presented scout advancement awards. Explorer Scout Thomas Ahlborn played taps to close the meeting.

Ushers were Robert Allen, Thomas Rohay, William Wagner, Dale Montgomery, Donald Schmid and Sherman King.

Before adjourning, the officials expressed appreciation to den mothers and fathers and scout leaders for their excellent cooperation.

It was announced that a special meeting will be held at 7 p. m. on Friday, Feb. 22, at Lebanon School.

Mrs. Ora Rodkey, of R. D., Belle Vernon, is confined to her home with injuries suffered in a fall.

Joe Mangino is recuperating from two major operations at West Penn Hospital in Pittsburgh.

Climbers Class Meets Tuesday; Reports Heard

The regular monthly meeting of the Climbers Class was held Tuesday with Althea Heath, Thelma Sellman, Dorothy Wendell and Lenora Rinehart as hostesses.

The meeting opened with the group singing of "Step by Step" and "All That Thrills My Soul", followed by scripture readings by Erma Echart.

The group had a session of prayer and sang "My Redeemer". Virginia Weaver then spoke on "Champions of Living" and Doris Linderman read a poem entitled "Has Someone Seen Christ in You Today".

The business meeting was conducted by Virginia Weaver, president. The roll call was answered by favorite verses of scripture. Janet Patterson gave the secretary's report and Thelma Sellman the treasurer's report.

Games were played under the direction of Hope Steen, Dorothy Bush and Dorothy Naylor. Lunch was served to Erma Echart, Janet Patterson, Virginia Weaver, Doris Linderman, Mary Worrell, Betty Forsythe, Mary Peroney, Lenora Patterson, Arlene Echart, Bernice Santmyer, Evelyn Brubaker, Dorothy Bush, Elizabeth Nescot, Goldie Peroney, Doris Bush, Gwen Wood, Hope Steen, Betty Scotch, Kathyrn Foor, Violet Baldwin and Clara Peroney.

VFW Official Hits Compensation Ruling

PHILADELPHIA (UP) —A district commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars charged Wednesday that a recent ruling by State Attorney General Thomas D. McBride on unemployment compensation was forcing employers to "subsidize Communists."

Charles Nicholas, of Philadelphia, said a ruling handed down by McBride on Feb. 6 makes it mandatory for the State Bureau of Employment Security to pay unemployment compensation to persons dismissed as security risks while invoking the Fifth Amendment.

The ruling distributed to all offices of the state employment service quoted the Attorney General as follows:

"There is no foundation in law or equity for denying a person who has been granted a privilege guaranteed him by the United States Constitution for the benefits of unemployment compensation, if he is otherwise qualified."

Nicholas said the ruling "now makes it mandatory" for the unemployment funds to be paid to "any Fifth Amendment Communist discharged as a security risk."

The VFW commander urged employers to appeal to the courts where they were charged for unemployment compensation in such cases.

McBride, in his offices in Harrisburg, said "I don't see what we can do except follow the decision of the United States Supreme Court."

He added that the "mere invocation of the Fifth Amendment is not in itself an admission of guilt in a criminal case or of subversion in a loyalty case."

Children Ban Hit in House

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation in the General Assembly today would make it unlawful to refuse to lease apartments on the grounds that the prospective tenants have children.

The House measure would fine landlords who lease dwellings with the provision that the occupants remain childless or refuse them occupancy because they do have youngsters. First and second offenders would be liable to a $200 fine and 30 days imprisonment while third offenses would face a maximum $1,000 fine and 60 days in jail.

The bill was sponsored by Rep. Granville E. Jones (D-Philadelphia).

Ike Is Pleased With Results of Troop Request

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (UP)—The administration expressed satisfaction today with Senate committee action on the request for presidential authority to use troops in the Middle East.

White House Press Secretary James C Hagerty said President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles were "pleased" with the troops resolution approved by committee action Wednesday, although some of the "language" calls for further study.

"Both the President and the secretary expressed their pleasure that the resolution was reported out by such a large vote (20-8) by the combined Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. Hagerty added.

The President was reported to be planning a conference this morning with Brig. Gen. Andrew Goodpaster, White House staff secretary and liaison man with the Pentagon. The nature of the conference was not disclosed.

Railroader Gets 25 Percent of Total Verdict

PITTSBURGH (UP)— In an unusual verdict, a Federal Court Wednesday night awarded a Johnstown railroader $120,000 for injuries suffered while at work, but cut his employer's liability to $30,000 on grounds that the worker himself was responsible for 75 per cent of his injuries.

After eight hours deliberation, the jurors held that the Conemaugh & Black Lick Railroad should pay Walter Dunn, 41, a track laborer, only 25 per cent of the total verdict.

Dunn contended the railroad was guilty of negligence because a company medical examiner certified him fit for heavy work five weeks after a serious stomach operation. As a result, he said, he suffered ruptures of incisions and was forced to undergo three more operations.

In holding Dunn 75 per cent responsible, the jurors held that Dunn should have known he was unable to do the heavy work.

Legislative Probe of Pardons Board Will Start Next Week

HARRISBURG (UP)—A full-scale legislative investigation of the state Pardons Board, with the accent on the controversial David Darcy case, will open next week.

Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins (R-Cameron), chairman of the six-member House-Senate committee, said he will hold an organizational meeting at 10 a.m. Monday to decide what witnesses to call and what records to examine.

The joint committee is armed with full subpena powers. Legislation appropriating $20,000 to underwrite the cost of the inquiry has been introduced in the House.

The investigation groundwork was laid earlier this year when the Republican-controlled Assembly passed a GOP House resolution authorizing an inquiry into charges that "political considerations" influenced the Pardons Board recommendation to Gov. George M. Leader to grant Darcy and two accomplices commutation of death penalties to life imprisonment.

Darcy, Harold Foster and Harry Zeitz were sentenced to the electric chair for the slaying of William Kelly, an innocent bystander, during a Bucks County holdup in December, 1947. Darcy's eight-year court battle to save his life and those of his companions ended last September when Leader granted the clemency.

Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman, chairman of the Pardons Board, invited the investigating committee to attend the board's hearings next Tuesday and Wednesday to aid their deliberations.

Furman Ready

Furman said he would testify before the committee if asked.

The charges of "political considerations" were a Republican campaign issue last fall during the U. S. Senate race between former Philadelphia mayor Joseph S. Clark, Jr. and Sen. James H. Duff.

Tompkins said board records would be of "little value" in determining "political considerations" and that he would have to rely on testimony from witnesses.

Other committee members are Sens. William Z. Scott (R-Carbon), Robert D. Fleming (R-Allegheny) and Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) and Reps. Clarence D. Bell (R-Delaware) and Philip Lopresti (D-Cambria).

On the legislative front, some Democratic senators were reported critical of the governor's recent "out-of-state" appointments to cabinet posts.

Sen. John C. Miller (D-Beaver) said at least four Democratic senators planned to vote against confirmation of William L. Batt, Jr., Toledo, O. as new secretary of the Labor and Industry Department.

The Senate will reconvene Monday at 3:30 p.m. and the House one hour later.

Five Day Forecast

Western Pennsylvania: Temperature will average two to six degrees below normal. Colder Thursday and Friday. Warmer Saturday and probably Sunday. Colder Monday. Light snow or snow flurries mostly north portion Thursday. Snow north and rain or snow south portion Friday night or Saturday. Total precipitation one-to-two-tenths inch.

Damage Claims for Accidents Are Getting Costlier Every Day

(This is the second of two dispatches on the high cost of settling accident damage claims.)

By JEROME BRAZDA

NEW YORK (UP) — The jam in New York state courts increases in almost a direct ratio with the increasing number of automobiles on the state's highways.

The trend is national, and auto insurance people who pay a large part of the settlement costs say "claim consciousness" is a big factor.

It's not the only factor—cars are getting more numerous and more expensive to repair, and there are more accidents. But the biggest increase in all the claim categories of auto insurance is in the fields of bodily injury and medical payments.

People are making bigger and bigger claims for "loss of wages" and "pain and suffering," one insurance company said. "There is growing feeling that people should be compensated heavily for accidents regardless of fault," an executive said.

57 Per Cent Rise

"In the five years from 1951 to 1956 the average per claim cost of all bodily injury claims rose 57 per cent. Jury awards, which usually involve bodily injury claims, rose 18 per cent in a single year (1956 over 1955)," he said.

It is common for both parties in an auto collision to file claims even if one party appears to be flagrantly in the wrong. A sore back that develops after a collision can be the basis for a claim for thousands of dollars.

Many times the claims are justifiable and no more than adequate to cover medical expenses or loss of wages. But many other times they are not and the plaintiff will settle out of court for a small fraction of the original demand or even drop the claim entirely.

A large percentage of drivers today are covered with liability insurance and some insurance officials say there is a growing tendency to try milking the companies of every possible dollar. Many companies say they have lost heavily on liability insurance in recent years.

Blame Insurance Laws

Some insurance executives blame compulsory insurance laws—now in effect in New York and Massachusetts—and financial responsibility laws for part of the rise in claims.

They believe the laws may make people even more claim conscious and, in the long run, result in more claims and higher premium rates.

There appears to be a popular feeling, they say, that since there is nothing personal in filing a claim with an insurance company that it's sort of a game.

There appears to be no solution to the problem of excessive claims, insurance men say, because you can't regulate or legislate anyone's conscience.

The best solution is at the source, one executive said—"If people would drive more carefully there wouldn't be so many accidents."

Asks Proposed Stamp Plan Be Eliminated

HARRISBURG (UP)—The administration of Gov. George M. Leader has formally moved for elimination of the proposed stamp plan method of collection for the 3 per cent sales tax.

A bill introduced Tuesday by House Minority Leader Albert S. Readinger (D-Berks) and Minority Whip Hiram G. Andrews (D-Cambria) proposed "there shall be no use of prepaid tax receipts to evidence payment of the tax."

The stamp plan provision was inserted in the sales tax law by the last Legislature upon the insistence of the then Republican House Minority, but it has been held up by court litigation challenging its constitutionality.

In his budget message, the governor said the state could save $6,250,000 a year by giving up the stamp idea.

Says Russia Near Missile Superiority

LONDON (UP)—Defense Minister Duncan Sandys said today that Russia "soon" will be able to launch guided missiles carrying nuclear warheads at speeds of over 5,000 miles an hour.

"So far no weapon has ever been invented to which there was no answer," Sandys told Parliament. "But it would be quite absurd to think that we shall be quick to evolve an effective defense against that form of attack."

At Signal Depot

SAUMUR, FRANCE — Specialist Third Class Barry M. O'Hare, son of Mrs. Ann O'Hare, 562 McKean avenue, Donora, is a member of the Saumur Signal Depot in France.

Specialist O'Hare, a teletype supervisor at the depot, entered the Army in December, 1954 and received basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He was stationed at Fort Gordon, Ga., before arriving in Europe in May, 1955.

Specialist O'Hare attended Donora High School.

Propose Punishment For False Statement

HARRISBURG (UP)—Two bills providing punishment for persons convicted of giving false information have been introduced in the General Assembly.

One measure, sponsored by Rep. Harry A. Naugle (R-Somerset), would levy a $50 fine on anyone falsely notifying police that a bomb was hidden in a public building.

The second by Naugle provides a $50 fine for persons who give telephone operators information which causes their calls to be charged to the account of another subscriber without his permission.

Students Trusted In Exams

MEMPHIS (UP) — Students grade their own examination papers in Dr. Calvin Street's course at Memphis State.

Street photographs exam papers, then hands them back to students. He reads the correct answers, while they mark their errors.

Later, Street spot-checks the original test against the photographic copy.

The method has two big advantages the professor said. It lets students find out how they did on an exam the same day they take the test, and it cuts Street's paper work.

Street thought up the new method after hearing students complain that they seldom found out their score on individual examinations.

In most cases, the tests are corrected and applied to the student's grade by the professor without the student ever learning his score. The final grade at the end of the semester may be the only one the student sees.

Street didn't let the students know what was coming the first time he tried the idea.

"I simply collected their tests and told them to take a recess," he said. "Then I slipped away and photographed the tests. After the recess I returned the tests for correction."

The scheme was an instant hit. They learned immediately which questions they missed, and what their final score was, he said.

Street said it cut down a lot of misunderstanding, succh as a student thinking a teacher "had it in for me" when he got a lower mark than expected at the end of the semester.

The method of grading also helps students learn the course, Street found. The student sees his mistakes soon after the test, and it helps drive home the correct answer for the questions he missed.
